Irene Castle Gets $750 Month

MAJ. FREDERIC McLAUGHLIN AND DAUGHTER

Temporary alimony of $750 a month was awarded Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, former dancer and socialite by a Chicago judge against Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, wealthy sportsman, in the first skirmish in their divorce fight. Mrs. McLaughlin charged cruelty. Major McLaughlin, who is shown in court with daughter, Barbara, lower left, denied the charges and asked for a disuissal of the suit.

Irene Shows How She Spends $750 Per Month

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. — While awaiting a definite date for a hearing of her divorce suit against Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, Irene Castle McLaughlin, former dance sensation, revealed today how she would budget the $750 a month temporary alimony allowed her.

After struggling for a long time with pencil and paper, Mrs. McLaughlin produced the following figures:

$200—Rental for three-room hotel apartment.
$150—Food for herself, Billy (her nine-year-old son and governess.
$34—Gasoline.
$58—Tips.
$75—Governess, salary.
$45—Maid's salary.
$60—Billy's school tuition.
$22—Insurance for jewels, clothes and car.
$20—Parking and automobile repairs.
$15—Taxicabs.
$16.50—Telephone.
$25—Laundry.

"After that", said Mrs. McLaughlin, "I'll have about $30 a month left for clothes, facials, cosmetics, shampoos, amusements, my dog refuge and other things."

She had asked $1,500 a month for her living expenses.

Prisoners In County Jail At Buffalo Get Hostile When Refused Butter

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 30—"No butter—no peace" won the day—and the butter—for 20 juveniles at Wende temporary county jail.

Butter was back on the menu today but still to be replaced were 50 windows in the mess hall and dozens of plates broken by the youths last night when bread came to the table without butter.

Jailer Reuben E. Becker said the butter ran out before supper. Zephyrs of discontent rose to a hurricent when no butter appeared. The boys then got to tossing things around.

Two cars filled with deputy sheriffs were sped to the jail and the youths were marched into their cells but all night they continued to shout and bang on cell doors.

Today butter appeared on the breakfast menu and the demonstration ended.

Of the rioters, five were believed responsible for the demonstration were placed in solitary confinement.

Justice Black Apparently Plans To Fight Charges

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Seemingly confident and in high spirits, Justice Hugo L. Black today apparently was ready to defy all efforts to persuade him to resign because of his alleged Ku Klux Klan connections, or to oust him because of ineligibility.

The former Alabama senator may take his case directly to the nation through a radio broadcast, although last night he denied, through a relative, that he had definitely decided to make a speech.

Court Meets Monday.

With the high court convening on Monday for its new eight months' term, Justice Black faced a busy period of preparation.

President On Victoria Visit

Pays Neighborly Visit To Capital Of British Columbia

NO STATEMENT ON STATUS OF BLACK

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 30.—President Roosevelt turned his back on national affairs today and boarded a destroyer for Victoria, capital of British Columbia, for another of his "Good Neighbor" gestures toward Canada.

As the presidential party left Seattle, White House Secretary Marvin C. H. McIntyre denied flatly reports that Associate Justice Hugo L. Black had been in communication with Mr. Roosevelt since his return to the states.

Word from the east that the president's first supreme court appointee was going on the radio and answer charges he held a life membership in the Ku Klux Klan was conveyed to the official Roosevelt party only through the newspapers, it was said.

Not In Communication With Black

McIntyre repeated a statement the president made in Hyde Park while Justice Black was still in Europe to deny they had been in communication of any sort.

He also depreciated reports that a third party—one of the president's anonymous assistants—had been commissioned to approach the former Alabama senator about the K. K. K. matter. Secretary McIntyre said he did not know what night Justice Black was going on the air.

The destroyer Phelps, one of the navy's newest ships, was conveying President and Mrs. Roosevelt from Seattle to Victoria to be luncheon guests of Lieutenant Governor Eric W. Hamber.

Accompanying the executive on the hands-across-the-border expedition were his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Roosevelt; his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Boettiger; Senator Homer T. Bone and Lewis Schwellenbach, of Washington, and Rep. Walgren, also of Washington.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black will make a radio address over a nationwide hookup from 9:30 p. m. to 10 p. m. (eastern standard time) Friday night, to explain to the country at large his affiliation, if any, with the Ku Klux Klan.

Justice Black's speech will be broadcast over both the red and blue networks of the National Broadcasting Company.

The announcement was made by Kenneth H. Berkley, Washington manager for the broadcasting company.

Italy Rejects Discussion Of Aid To Spain

Refuses To Accede To Tri-Partite Discussion Of Volunteers In Spain

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 20—Strengthened in its stand by the strong bond cemented between Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler during tneir recent meeting, Italy today rejected proposed tri-partite discussion of the question of volunteers in Spain.

Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador, in a conference with foreign secretary Anthony Eden threw the entire matter back into the lap of the non-intervention committee, insisting no useful purpose could be served by transferring the problem to a restricted group of powers.

The Italian stand renewed the possibility that France might open her borders for flow of men and munitions to the aid of loyalist Spain, a step she has threatened unless Italy immediately removes her volunteers from the nationalist side.

Great Britain, however, is continuing her efforts to dissaude France from such a move.

Italian participation in tri-partite discussions with Britain and France would have isolated Germany and deprived Italy of her support at the council table. The recent declarations of Hitler and Mussolini in Berlin made it obvious Italy and Germany would henceforth follow a parallel policy in Spain and elsewhere.

Petitions Request Curbing And Paving

Petitions Are Received By Council Today And Are Sent To Committee

When council convened in city hall today several petitions were presented by property-owners. All of them asked that thoroughfares be curbed and paved. The petitions showed a majority in foot frontage and property owners involved. The petitions were sent to committee.

Shanghai Again Pounded By Guns Of Jap Batteries

Japanese Seek To Clear Way For "Big Push" To Capture City

CHINESE TROOPS RESIST STUBBORNLY

Desperate Measures Taken To Halt Advance Of Jap Warships On River

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—Japanese artillery batteries pounded Chinese positions on the Shanghai front again today in an attempt to clear a path for Nippon's long-awaited "big push" to capture the city.

Chinese troops held out stubbornly against the Japanese barrages, however, and Chinese officials claimed no ground had been yielded anywhere along the battle line.

At the same time, desperate measures were taken to prevent additional Japanese warships from advancing further inland via the Yangtze river.

Seek To Block River Move.

Large fleets of Chinese Junks, laden with huge cargoes of stone, sailed down the river to strengthen the protective harbor boom at Kiangyin. The stones will be used to support the boom to forestall an anticipated Japanese advance up the Yangtze.

Meanwhile, at Canton, two air raid alarms were sounded but no Japanese raids against the city proper developed. Two Japanese planes bombed the vicinity of nearby Whampoa, however, evidently attempting to hit the naval academy there.

Meanwhile, in the north, Governor Han Fu-Chu of Shantung Province hotel refuted Japanese rumors he might save his province from invasion by "falling in with Japanese plans to create an autonomous federation of the northern provinces of Hopei, Shantung, Shansi, Suiyuan and Chahar."

The governor stoutly pledged his forces would resist Japanese aggression and would submit without question to the dictates of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, Nanking government dictator.

Last night Shanghai was the scene of an hour's battle when Japanese warships and Chinese artillery engaged in a spirited duel.

The Chinese guns tried to shell the Japanese airport in the Yangtzepoo district and the warships retaliated by hammering the native quarter of Pootung.

U. S. Receives Reply On Raid Protests

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The American government today awaited formal permission from Tokyo before making public Japan's reply to emphatic protests against Nippon's air bombardment of China's civil populace.

Japan's answer to the American note, dispatched September 22, supplementing an earlier oral protest, was received by the State Department yesterday from Ambassador Joseph B. Grew.

Diplomatic Secrecy

Its contents were enshrouded in diplomatic secrecy here, for friendly governments, by agreement and custom, do not make public such replies without the permission of the government concerned. The State Department has made it known to the Japanese government it desires to make the reply public.

It was understood in diplomatic circles the chief points raised in Japan's answer are:

1. Japan is not waging war on helpless civilians and non-combatants and has no intention of destroying purely civilian centers.

2. The air raids on Nanking, Canton, Hankow and other China cities are directed solely at military objectives.

These two points were expounded by Y. Suma, counselor of the Japanese embassy, in an exclusive interview with International News Service yesterday in which he made a defense of charges that Japan's war planes were waging a ruthless warfare on civilians.

Military Objectives

Suma said the air raids were directed only at military objectives within cities such as fortifications, ammunition dumps, aviation fields and the like, and that where civilians might be near such objectives warning was sent them in advance to leave the danger zone.

The American protest, however, took sharp issue with this position. Five other powers have joined the

"We never say we are successful in science. We just say that we are still working."

Martin's Purge Draws Protests

Head Of U. A. W. Brandishes Pistol To Disperse Picket's Committee

MARTIN'S HOTEL BEING PICKETTED

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

DETROIT, Sept. 30—Homer Martin, president of the C. I. O's United Automobile Workers union, today brandished a .45 caliber pistol to rout pickets from the rank and file of the union who were protesting Martin's purge in the U. A. W.

More than 35 pickets had gathered outside Martin's hotel residence demanding a meeting with the U. A. W. president to protest Martin's action in dismissing 12 organizers and four U. A. W. publicity workers Wednesday.

When Martin refused to see them, a committee of the pickets went into the hotel and pounded and kicked on the door of Martin's suite.

There were five men and a woman in the committee.

After some pounding, Martin finally flung open the door and brandished the pistol at the committee members, witnesses said.

"I'll see you at my office," Martin shouted.

Martin's hotel was still being picketed shortly before noon with spokesmen for the pickets still protesting against the dismissals ordered by Martin.

Wardrop, Known As 'Oldest Commuter', Buried Wednesday

Noted Banker, 87, Rode Trains For Years; Son Known Here

With the death this week of Robert Wardrop, 87-year-old board chairman of the First National bank at Pittsburgh, and father of W. Miller Wardrop, one-time superintendent of the Pennsylvania's Erie & Ashtabula division, the Pennsylvania has lost its oldest commuter.

Funeral services for Mr. Wardrop were conducted in the Sewickley Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon at 4:15.

When a recent Railway Age story referred to Mr. Wardrop as the oldest commuter in the United States, the record went unchallenged. Since then he has been known as "the grand dean of commuters".

Wardrop started commuting on the old Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad and for years had been riding daily between his Sewickley home and his Pittsburgh office. Passengers and trainmen knew him well, for he was always aboard morning and evening.

His son, W. Miller, now assistant to the general manager of the Pennsy at Pittsburgh, is well known here.

Japan Replies To U. S. Protests On Bomb Raids

Asserts Japanese Planes Will Not Halt Attacks Upon Nanking

DENIES ATTACKS ARE AIMED AT CIVILIANS

Rejects Claims Holding Japan Responsible For Property Damage In Raids

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Sept. 30.—Japanese planes will keep on bombing Nanking, China's Capital, despite protests from the United States and other governments, Japan asserted flatly today in a formal reply to the note recently dispatched to Tokyo by American Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The American note protested against bombing of open Chinese towns and the killing of non-combatants as "contrary to humanity". Japan retorted that aerial attacks against Nanking are "unavoidable".

Japanese Reply.

The Jauanese reply, framed by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota, was released at 11:45 a. m. in Tokyo.

Its main points were as follows:

1—It is unavoidable that Japan's forces bomb strong Chinese defenses, including Nanking, which the note termed the "central base of Chinese military operations".

2—Japanese military operations are not indiscriminately directed against both combatants and non-combatants.

3—Japan remains "solicitous" regarding the rights of third parties in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

4—The United States is requested to "cooperate" with Japan in transporting American nationals to safe refuges in order to avoid "misfortunes".

5—As regards damages resulting from the conflict, Japanese intentions remain the same as previously stated.

Note Delivered.

The Japanese note was handed to United States Ambassador Joseph C.

Urges Change In Ideas Toward Crime

Bates Advocates Rehabilitation

Noted Authority On Penology Says Few Prisons Are Up-To-Date

MOST PRISONS OVERCROWDED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 30—Sanford Bates, former director of the federal bureau of prisons and a noted authority on penology, is of the opinion that in this country our attitude toward crime is "short sighted."

"We think too much about putting criminals in jail and not enough about what to do with them when they come out," he declared in an interview today.

Advocates Parole System

Bates, who is now executive director of the Boys' Club of America, Inc., is an ardent advocate of the parole system.

Regarding our prisons he said:

1.—They are over-crowded.

2.—Prisoners do not have enough employment to keep them busy

This country he asserted, hasn't enough prisons classify prisoners properly. Large states such as New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts have good prisons and consequently these states have a low crime rate. But elsewhere conditions are different, he added, pointing out that San Quentin has 5,600 prisoners, Jefferson City, Mo., more than 4,000, Columbus, O., 5,000 and Jackson, Mich., about 6,000.

Bates, who at one time was commissioner of corrections of Boston, said the keynote of an enlightened prison policy is rehabilitation. Some prisons have farms, vocational schools, hospitals. Others have not.

'Prisoners should be taught to be useful," he said. "You can't turn out 60,000 resentful men every year and not hurt society."

He asserted that only a small percentage of offenders get to prison; there wouldn't be room in the jails if all of them were caught.

JAPAN REPLIES TO U. S. PROTESTS ON BOMB RAIDS

Grew and to the French envoy. A similar memorandum was delivered verbally to British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie.

The Japanese reply, which amounted to a virtual rejection of the protest dispatch by Hull, was briefly worded and almost curt in tone. Refusal of Japan to change her course in China was its principal theme.

This answer was expected in diplomatic circles because of the fact the American and other notes to Tokyo had utterly failed to induce Japan to halt her bombings of open towns in China. The day after Hull's note was dispatched Japan rained death and destruction on Canton, killing and wounding thousands of Chinese civilians.

The note also rejected the American claim holding Japan responsible for American property damages resulting from Japanese raids.

View Re-emphasized.

The Japanese government already has informed the United States that Japan will not accept blame for property damage in China resulting from the hostilities, for which Tokyo holds China responsible, but may make consolidation payments in certain cases. This view was re-emphasized in today's reply.

Diplomatic circles interpreted the note as indicating Japan will refuse to provide indemnity for damages.

Meanwhile, a ministry of war spokesman commented angrily on reports from London that the British air ministry has approved shipment of a dozen military planes to China. He said:

"If this is true, affairs in China may become more complicated. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's regime is liable to become more communistic than it is. It is getting red already.

"Under those circumstances the hopes entertained by Britain may come to naught due to bolshevisation of China. Japan is not afraid of prolongation of the conflict, but public opinion might stiffen and the hitherto friendly feelings held for England might rapidly change for the worse."

FIREMEN ANSWER SEVERAL ALARMS

City firemen answered three alarms last evening, none of which were for fires of any consequence.

At 6:30 p. m. they were summoned to 101 East Long avenue by an alarm from box 56, where grease had accumulated in the air cleaner of the car of J. R. Noga and was smouldering. Firemen removed the container.

At 6:50 p. m. they were summoned to 509 Florence avenue, where employes of the Reliance Manufacturing company, which is moving out of its present location, had built a bonfire and did not put it out.

At 11 p. m. they were summoned to the home of Julius Markley of 211 Northview avenue, where occupants of the home were trying to adjust the pilot flame on a gas range and the burner came apart. There was no fire damage.

And doubtless the old he rattlesnake tells the young ones to love peace but defend themselves against wicked enemies.

Have Conference On Recreational Facilities Here

Thirty Civic Leaders In Attendance — Major Braden Presents Surveys

With thirty civic leaders in attendance, included in which were the mayor, two councilmen and two school directors, a meeting was held in The Castleton hotel Wednesday afternoon concerning the recreational facilities of New Castle. Major George W. Braden, special field representative of the National Recreational Association was present and presented to the group a survey of a number of cities comparable in size with New Castle, showing what was being done in other cities.

Major Braden urged that a recreational program under the control and direction of the city government be established. He pointed out that recreational programs under private organizations lacked some desirable elements that a governmental supervised program would contain.

Upon motion a resolution was adopted which urges the re-establishment of the old recreational board in the city to consist of five members, two of which are councilmen, two of which are educators and one civilian to be appointed by the four.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath pledged his support of the movement and said that an effort would be made to have the board appointed within the near future.

New Prison Plans Seek To Include Electric Chair

Will Ask Legislature To Shift Chair From Rockview To Mt. Gretna

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30—Welfare Secretary Arthur W. Howe, indicated today that authorization to transfer the electric chair from Rockview Penitentiary to Mt. Gretna in Lebanon county probably will be asked of the next leglislature.

Howe announced that plans for the new $1,500,000 "escape proof" prison at Mt. Gretna will be ready for submission in a week or so.

"A place for the electric chair has been provided in the plans," the secretary said, "but we must have some legislation before it can be moved since a law placed it there."

The chair was created by the Legislature in 1915 to replace hanging as the punishment for murder. It has claimed several hundred lives.

Spokesman Claims Majority Of Barbers Want Council To Act

William Lewellyn, spokesman, and other master barbers appeared before city council at their city hall session this morning, relative to the request of the barbers, presented recently, that council set opening and closing hours.

Lewellyn said that 97 per cent of the barbers in the city favor council designating opening and closing hours. In addition he read to the solons the actions taken in Easton, Erie and other cities.

The spokesman further stated there are 79 shops here and 123 barbers and only a small percentage refused to sign the petition, presented some time ago, in which hours should be set by council for health reasons.

Sometime ago City Solicitor William D. Cobau said that the question was one of constitutional rights and council took no action further than to send the proposed bill to committee.

Allegations Are Refuted By Japs

(International News Service)

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—In reply to the League of Nations resolution condemning Japanese bombardment of Chinese open towns, the Tokyo government today issued a communique through its consul-general here refuting the allegations.

Paralleling the note sent to the United States in response to that government's protest, the Japanese communique insisted only buildings "affecting the military power of the adversary" had been attacked and stoutly denied there had been any attacks upon non-combatants.

The dispute broke into the open with the signing of an agreement between the Great Lakes Transit Corp., one of the major lake operators, and the A. F. of L. International Seamen's Union. Prompt protests came from the CIO National Maritime Union.

Rigid Enforcement Of Curfew Coming

Indications are that city police will be soon given orders to enforce the curfew ordinance to the letter, because youths in different sections of the city have started Hallowe'en proclivities, which already has caused considerable annoyance to housewives and auto operators.

Reports received by police last night described tomato throwing at automobiles, soaping of car windows; and windows in residences.

Sometime ago Mayor Charles E. McGrath instructed that the curfew ordinance be enforced.

There was no noticeable "bearing down" by police who believed that youths would welcome a little leniency but judging from the actions of the tomato-throwers and window-soapers, police will start enforcing the law to the letter.

Birds do fly high at night for up in the heavens on these fall nights birds are passing in fast flight to the south. Monday night against the fading moon I saw a flock of wild geese up so high that they looked like pigeons. It is fascinating to watch birds in the dark heavens at night. We do not realize it but when darkness is upon the land, many birds are winging across the sky in answer to the call of migration. Most all shore birds fly at night and rest during the day. Sandpipers and Plovers fly high at migration time. High above the lanes of the flying Eagle man has pierced the heavens in motor planes, but he must be equipped with special heating apparatus when he climbs high. Tree Inside Curb Policemen Report

Mayor Charles E. McGrath this morning during councilmanic session submitted a report of the auto accident in which a car operated by Herbert Hake of Walmo was said to have struck a tree in North Beaver street last Thursday night. The request for damages, submitted thru Oscar Saul, said the auto had hit a tree which was situated in the cartway. Officers Hillers and Tyrell, who investigated the complaint, reported to the mayor, the latter said that the tree is located 18 inches inside the curb.

upon Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes were expected to be included in his day's activities.

Justice Black rose this morning at the peaceful Alexandria, Va., suburban home of Clifford Durr, a relative—a marked change from the previous night spent on a turbulent ocean and a hectic day during which he ran the gauntlet of 100 newspaper men.

He refused to amplify his answers to questions hurled at him when he docked in Norfolk, Va., in which he indicated that when he made a statement he would make it over a radio hookup.

While both Justice Black and his wife were said by relatives to be extremely tired last night, the justice conferred late with Thomas Woodward, member of the maritime commission and a close friend.

Another Manville Divorce

Marcelle Edwards Manville, fourth wife of the playboy asbestos heir, Tommy Manville, is pictured at Newark Airport as she left New York for Reno, where she will file for divorce. The much-married heir has settled $200,000 on her. She had asked for a million. The settlement followed Manville's spectacular full-page advertising in New York papers for an attorney. (Central Press)

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. William Howard.

Mrs. William Howard, aged 91 years, a pioneer resident of Pittsburgh, died at 6:10 a. m. today in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lyda Taylor, 808 McCleary avenue.

Mrs. Howard, who for 69 years resided at one address in Pittsburgh, came to live with her daughter five years ago. Another daughter, Mrs. Anna Gorst, and a son, W. J. Howard, also live in New Castle.

The deceased was born in Uniontown, Fayette county, on September 18, 1846, daughter of George and Mahela Butler Phillips.

For years she was a member of the Calvary M. E. church in Pittsburgh, attending as long as she was able. She lived in Pittsburgh ever since she was a little girl and was a passenger on the first ferry boat to cross the Allegheny river from the north to the south side.

She heard President Lincoln speak at a meeting in the old Monongahela Home and watched Pittsburgh grow into one of the greatest cities of the world in the many years which followed.

In addition to her two daughters and son in New Castle, Mrs. Howard leaves four grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her husband 25 years ago, and by four children.

Funeral services will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Friday in the McCleary avenue residence, and the American Legion auxiliary, of which Mrs. Gorst is a member, is intending to be there in a body. Rev. Richard Owrey of the Peoples Mission will be the minister in charge. Interment will be made at 11 o'clock Saturday morning in Uniondale cemetery, Pittsburgh.

Funeral Of Mrs. Hunter

Funeral services for Mrs. Effie A. Hunter, of East Washington street, were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Jos. B. Leyde mortuary, with Rev. Richard Owrey of the Peoples Mission in charge, assisted by Rev. G. S. Bennett, D.D., of the First Christian church.

During the services Miss Sadie Lewis and Miss J. E. Jenkins sang two beautiful hymns, accompanied by Mrs. Jay L. Reed at the pipe organ.

Pallbearers were Harry Flinner, Arthur Keifer, James McCallion, James Schetrom, Elmer Farrell and Joseph Bartberger. Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Gebhart Funeral Time

Funeral mass for Mrs. W. J. Gebhart, of Mahoningtown R. D. 8, will be celebrated in St. Joseph's church at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning. The funeral party will leave the home for the church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery.

U. S. RECEIVES REPLY ON RAID PROTESTS

United States in protesting the air raids. The American protest asserted:

"This government holds the view that any general bombing of an extensive area wherein there resides a large populace engaged in peaceful pursuits is unwarranted and contrary to principles of law and of humanity.

"Moreover, in the present instance the period allowed for withdrawal is inadequate, and, in view of the wide area over which Japanese bombing operations have prevailed, there can be no assurance that even in areas to which American nationals and non-combatants might withdraw they would be secure . . . Italian Sentry Kills Chinaman

Wounds Another As Party Refuses To Heed Order To Halt

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—Italian officials announced in a formal statement today that two Chinese mill hands, wounded as they fled by boat from a Japanese bombardment of Chapei, were fired on by an Italian sentry of the Savoy grenadiers because their party refused to heed an order to halt.

One of the wounded Chinese died today.

Col. C. B. Gates, American commander of the United States settlement defense sector adjoining the Italian sector, and Brigadier General John C. Beaumont were angered by charges the American redoubt was used by the Italian grenadiers.

Party Bags Two Moose In Canada

Glenn Thomas, of Morris, Pa., well known in New Castle and a brother-in-law of Mrs. J. Elder Bryan of Morton street, had the thrill of bagging a large moose in Northern Canada, the other day, according to word received here.

The animal had an antler-spread of 56½ inches and drew great admiration from guides in that section who declared that the largest spread they had ever seen was 60 inches.

Mr. Thomas was one of a party of four hunters and the party brought back two moose.

The hunting was down in a part of Canada that could be penetrated only by airplane. They left their cars at a certain point and made the remainder of the trip, into the interior, by plane.

Mr. Thomas is the husband of the former Elizabeth Callahan, who resided in New Castle.

ANOTHER GESTURE OF LEAGUE FUTILITY

SOLEMN declaration by the League of Nations Assembly against the bombardment by Japanese aircraft of open towns in China makes the civilized world's protest against the aerial slaughter of noncombatants in the Far East practically unanimous, but to what end?

Is there any likelihood that the League Assembly's adoption of the Advisory Committee's ponderous verdict against the bombing of civilian populations will bring a change of heart to Japan's war lords? Not the slightest.

It is to the credit of those in charge of America's Asiatic policy that our consultive representative on the Advisory Committee did not join the twenty-two League members in this latest gesture of futility on the sun-lit shores of Lake Geneva. Our State Department has made its own protests to Tokio and no more are needed. The less we say, write and do about Japan's war in China the less possibility will there be of our being dragged into it.

The League can afford to stand afar off and, with gloomy head-shaking, propound dull denunciations of war. It has never done anything else. But there is no reason for the United States to put itself in the League's class. We can't stop Japan from waging war in China. It is no more logical for this country to keep on sending protests to Tokio than it would be to draft our young men to cross the Pacific and fight to defend China.

It isn't our war. We must keep away from it.

FIRES BURN UP WEALTH

"Don't think you are not concerned with fire losses," cautions the National Board of Fire Underwriters in a bulletin sent out in connection with Fire Prevention Week, "because fires burn up wealth irrevocably."

Few people look beyond the fact that most burned property value is replaced by insurance. And it is indeed a fortunate thing that sound fire insurance does provide a financial safeguard which enables so many to rebuild. But, the truth of the matter is that burned material cannot be replaced. It is gone forever, and the nation is poorer by that much in tangible wealth.

In recent years, the annual fire waste has been on such an enormous scale that if continued indefinitely, our country eventually may be devoid of natural resources, our industries improverished and prosperity well nigh impossible. Fire brings unemployment, loss of time, wages and buying power, sometimes checking the growth of communities and reaching out a detaining hand to dependent or allied industries.

So it is with a feeling of anticipation that the awakening of many citizens to the consciousness of fire dangers is observed—an anticipation that perhaps this criminal waste of resources may be checked. Lend a hand—everyone—during Fire Prevention Week, next week.

AFTER FORTY

The frequency with which attention is now being centered upon the necessity of providing employment for men who have passed middle age, if economic stability and social justice are to be maintained in the country, holds the promise of remedial action. In fact, there are evidences that employers are now giving greater consideration to the claims of these men upon employment.

The New York City Sales Executive Club has conducted a survey and reports that eighty per cent of its members prefer for executive and selling employment men more than forty years old. Reasons given are that the older men are better producers, more conscientious, less likely to deceive and more readily and understandingly receptive of criticism.

Stability and seriousness of purpose are invaluable assets in a worker and more than compensate for whatever advantages youth may have in the way of energy and enthusiasm. Men of forty are usually men of experience and responsibility, of judgment and loyalty. Employers are shortsighted indeed who underestimate the value of these qualities.

THEY LIVE LONGER

Matrimony, according to the statisticians of a big life insurance company, has unsuspected merits, and especially for men. Not only does life seem longer to married men, according to the old jest, but it actually is longer. This is especially true in the middle-aged groups. From 30 to 45, the experts report, the mortality of married men is less than half that of single men.

The figures are not so good for women, although, except for very young wives, they also benefit. The death rate for married women from 30 to 65 is found to be 10 per cent better than for the unmarried.

The situation is reversed for the widowed. There is more mortality among widowers than among widows.

Apparently, as far as death and longevity are concerned, men need women to take care of them more than women need men.

Too bad our flag can't be used as a trademark. It's the only thing the Japs wouldn't copy.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

COMRADESHIP HELPS

OFFERING in this column some suggestions for solving a problem, I have, occasionally, proposed to the father that he "have lunch out" with the problem adolescent son. For some months I have had a column on this subject stirring inside of me. Here it comes. You might think I were in the restaurant business. Well, I'm not. But if my advice is taken, there will be a little added business at public eating places.

In towns and cities many fathers eat lunch down town. Let him who has a boy over ten or twelve that seems to be a problem, invite this lad every now and then to take lunch with him, going to the most attractive place he ever goes alone.

Be it on a Saturday, they might attend a ball game or a movie, together. If there are younger children, no matter. Their turn will come by and by. The very fact that the boy is singled out in this way makes him feel more worthwhile in his relationship to dad. Besides, it affords opportunity for closer father-son companionship. Occasionally the son might well bring his best friend along, dad being host to both of them.

Consider also what it might mean to the farm boy of 'teen age if his dad, every month or two, would go to town with this son and have a dainty, toothsome meal with him. I believe it would be good investment, offering rich returns in father-son relationships.

Applies To Mother-Daughter

The same principle should apply as well to the mother and her adolescent daughter. It's fine to see them go shopping together, take lunch out together and attend a movie together, now and then. Such father-son and mother-daughter experiences together help prevent problems as well as correct them.

Now and then it also may be excellent for father and daughter or mother and son to lunch out together, particularly in the later 'teens. More often than not, busy dads do not know their daughters very well, and such little outings should be helpful. However, the major problem is the cultivation of closer father-son and mother-daughter comradeship.

Apropos are the mother-daughter and father-son banquets sponsored by churches and Parent-Teacher associations. They render a valuable service to happier family relationships. I wish, however, that the price were kept within the reach of all that are interested, and that those who just could not afford even a very small price might be enabled to attend by the help of others, and without anybody else knowing where the help came from.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

NO GENTLEMAN!

I was in a hardware store, waiting to buy a few pounds of nails and a lock. There were four or five men ahead of me, but though I was in a hurry I was waiting patiently for my turn. They were ahead of me, they had claims on the clerks' time that were prior to mine. And, besides, neither the clerks nor the men customers would have allowed me to barge in ahead of them.

Into the store came two women. They didn't look at any of the men. They didn't count the number of customers head of them. They walked straight up to the counter where a clerk was wrapping a package and made it difficult for him to wait on anybody by them. . . . Now, I'm no woman hater. And these looked like nice enough ladies who would be very polite to you in their homes and are charming to all their friends. But they bullied that clerk into waiting on them first. He did turn and ask one of the customers what he wanted, and when he learned it was a length of garden hose, he murmured something about "these ladies"—and turned to them.

And I'm afraid I'm no gentleman because I didn't take it sweetly. It wasn't my immediate turn, but in fact they were taking my turn because they were pushing me just that much further down the line. . . So I said to the clerk, "Goodbye!" and walked out. . . . Of course I wasted more time finding another hardware store and waiting for my turn again; but in a sort of shamefaced way I seemed to be striking a blow for my sex. It would have been a much more emphatic blow if either of those ladies had even heard me or had paid the slightest attention to my protest. Only the proprietor heard me—and he could not do much about it except to tell the ladies that come into his store that they must wait their turn. (And they might be insulted, although no man would be.)

There's something else, too. It seemed peculiarly outrageous for such a thing to happen in a hardware store—for if there is any shop in town that is a MAN'S province and where that sort of thing should NOT happen to him, it ought to be a place where he buys his locks, screws, nuts, bolts, nails and hammers. . . . So I didn't act like a gentleman and I'm NOT ashamed.

JANET arrives to spend the evening. Mary, her hostess, is called to the telephone. While Janet sits in silent ignorance, Mary talks garrulously to her unseen caller-on-the-telephone. She laughs uproariously and answers in cryptic monosyllables into the telephone while poor Janet fumbles through the pages of a magazine trying to appear unconcerned and preoccupied. In reality Janet feels that she is completely superfluous, that Mary would prefer to be alone.

The polite hostess will endeavor to terminate, as soon as possible, all telephone conversations that interrupt visits from friends. Or she will at least tell her unseen friend that she has a visitor and will hold an "open" conversation at the finish of which she will tell her guest all about it so that she may have a laugh too and know definitely that she was not the subject of the humorous conversation.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—Should a hostess leave the dinner table to accompany a departing guest to the door if that guest is forced to leave before dinner is over?—GERTRUDE.

Answer—Only the most unavoidable circumstances should force a guest to leave before dinner is over. The hostess should not accompany the departing guest to the door as this would be a discourtesy to her other diners.

Business Drops As Spending Stops.
More Deflation Seen As Answer.
Problem Proves Universal One.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THE DROP in business—and securities—may be due in a large measure to decline of government spending.

Not many people mention that out loud. Wall Street and the conservatives have been crying so long for a balanced budget that they cannot afford to object. They sell securities, to be re-bought at lower levels.

Manufacturers and merchants and persons they employ are not so fortunate.

And farmers are decidedly antagonistic to a deflation in government spending.

* * *

MUCH MORE DEFLATION?

Some time there will have to be much more deflation. That time will come when the government may not be able to borrow more money without doing serious damage to its citizens.

Then efforts to maintain fictitious prices — not only for farm products but manufactured products, through tariffs—will have to go by the board.

That will be the purgative. Whether our financial structure and social system will stand it is yet to be seen.

That time still may be some years hence.

In the meantime, the farmers will get the "crop protection", or whatever one desires to call it. There is no alternative under our present system.

When President Roosevelt mentioned that fact, security prices dropped again — NOT because he mentioned the matter, but because he spoke a disagreeable truth.

Bounties, will remain, and the president will continue to try to make social changes.

* * *

A DEFINITE POLICY?

That policy may as well be looked upon as a definite one. A successor to President Roosevelt probably would have to re-advert to it, if he tried to make a change.

The fact is becoming more apparent to men with money that to revert to the previous status quo would mean collapse of the social structure. Government doles keep it intact today. Either people with money give money to the government to dole out, unscientifically, wastefully and with disregard of the natural economic laws, or else permit a complete social and economic evolution.

True, that view is not generally shared. But it is gaining adherents. Thus, there often is gloom in the midst of "good business". And security prices rise and fall abruptly, according to the psychology of the particular day.

And as wars and economic crises in opposite parts of the world tend to isolate us more and more, and as money becomes frightened, and darts hither and thither, or is confiscated for militarism, the fear grows that we as yet have devised no means whereby this great nation can support its own economic structure.

With all our resources, we still have several millions jobless, many millions, destitute, yet foodstuff production is restricted and manufacturing plants work merely part capacity (in many instances) because of "lack of markets".

* * *

NO DECLINE YET?

Probably there will not be much further decline in business and securities now.

The government is "priming the pump" again.

But that sort of "prosperity" cannot last forever.

Budget-balancing probably will come some day. But if and when it does, vast socio-economic changes will accompany it. That is what the most conservative-mined are beginning to believe. They may blame it on President Roosevelt or his

ANOTHER GREAT INSTITUTION.

The stock fire insurance industry was established and has been maintained on the principle that adequate profits must be made in order to protect the policyholder—and that, at the same time, the cost of insurance to the public must be progressively reduced.

These two purposes may seem at odds, but the industry has shown that they can be achieved. The financial position of the companies has been strengthened and the cost of stock fire insurance is today 40 per cent less, on the average, than it was in 1900.

In other words, the industry has found ways and means of reducing the cost of doing business and it has invariably shared these savings with its policyholders. For three-quarters of a century, the industry has fought on behalf of fire prevention and fire protection, and success has followed. The entire country has been included in an elaborate system whereby cities, towns and villages are inspected and graded in the light of hazards. The industry has established a bureau for testing the fire resistance of electrical equipment, building materials and other products,—a work which is of major importance in conserving life and property from destruction by fire. The cumulative effect of these activities has been to save the country billions of dollars—in reduced premiums, lower fire loss, and other indirect costs that are an inescapable part of fire waste.

Fire insurance is the backbone of the nation's credit—without it, no man could take the risks involved in building and operating a business. The first insurance industry has made a magnificent contribution to the progress and maintenance of our modern civilization.

THE LITTLE TOWNS

I like to wander up and down
The main street of the little town
Where men have time to chat,
And trade is not the vicious thing
Of cold and sordid bargaining
Which marks the grown up cities
With their populations fat.

I like the little country store
With empty boxes near the door
For all who care to rest;
I like the sort of people there
Who always have the time to spare
To talk of crops and politics
Or tell the latest jest.

I like to see above the door
The name of the proprietor
In letters large and clear;
I like the friendliness that glows
And warms the greeting he bestows
When customers appear.

And time and overhead, have lost
A very precious thing.
Though larger profits they may reap
It seems too bad they could not keep

THURSDAY, SEPT. 30

Once Upon Sept. 30th.—After a preliminary bout involving chain gang prisoners, Georgia and Massachusetts have been quarreling over credit for the invention of the use of ether as a medical anaesthesia. Georgian patriots present proofs that Dr. Crawford W. Long employed sul-ether in a successful surgical operation (for removal of cystic tumor) on March 30, 1842, four years before first recorded use of ether by William T. Morton, Boston dentist.

Morton, who is generally credited with introducing ether in surgery, first employed on a human, Sept. 30, 1846 in extracting the tooth of a lad, one Eben Frost, after experimenting with animals.

The success the 27-year-old dentist reported to doctors, caused surgeons at Massachusetts General hospital to employ him two weeks later as anesthecist in an operation which attracted sufficient attention to cause ether's value to be recognized. Long's prior use was not known until 1852, when he reported it to the Georgia Medical society.

Morton tried to obtain a patent on it, but never benefitted financially from the discovery.

There was no particular reason why he should have. For neither Long nor Morton were the first to experiment with ether or to know its anesthestic qualities.

Another Bostonian, Dr. J. C. Warren, used ether in treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis as early as 1805, but apparently Faraday first showed that the inhalation of ether produced anaesthetic effects similar to those of nitrous oxide, in 1818. Dr. John D. Godman, Philadelphia, made a similar demonstration in 1822, or 20 years before Morton.

Flea Circus Is Profitable

New York Venture Brings Profits To Backers—Rainy Days Are Best

NEWEST TENNIS STAR POPULAR

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—New York's best known genuflection to the yokel urge is the Forty Second street Flea Circus and dime museum of freaks. It has been running at nice profit for more than eight years and is among the few amusement permanents in the metropolis.

O. O. McIntyre

The flea circus opens at 10 a. m. and runs until long after midnight, depending upon the pressure at the box office. Oddly, the most satisfactory days for attendance are when it rains. The group of promoters on a small investment have all become well to do.

Most of the freak exhibits are changed every few months but a few have been there since opening. The same sort of ballyhoo used on the carnival lots is employed. The barkers talking just as they do to the puddle-jumpers.

The fleas are not, of course, actually trained. They are controlled by invisible wires around the neck and their movements are purely mechanical. They come from a stretch of the Mediterranean in bottles and actually feed off the arms of the impresario.

Not since Helen Wills swamped the headlines has a new tennis player winnowed so much newspaper space as Dorothy Bundy, whose flash and form proved such a surprising upset at Forest Hills the other week. Miss Bundy was indeed something different from the usual run of pokerfaced tennis stars. She was a plump duckling whose face beamed with ready smiles. A young lady flustered at the first burst of fame that when the camera men and reporters besieged her she actually had to turn her head to hide her blushes.

The professional ballroom team, known as The De Marcos, have swept far out front in their particular amusement field. They are the Castles of the Hour. The command performance before the King and Queen, following the coronation, lifted them above the usual niche. For years, Tony and Rene, man and wife, have danced in the various supper clubs in New York, Chicago and Palm Beach and are regarded as the happiest married couple in the business. On off nights, they watch other professionals dance.

The efforts of cafes to duck the stigma of a couvert is often amusing. On one mid-town menu I noticed this: "No cover charge except after 9 p. m. Then 50 cents. Friday, Saturday and Sunday night and all holidays $1. Closed Mondays."

And then there are those cafe subtleties which herald "Luncheon from 60 cents. Dinner from $1.50." But for those prices one usually gets only a smidgin of food and certainly not a satisfactory meal.

If one likes hors d'oeuvres there is more for the money at the Swedish restaurants. The other evening at one I counted 29 varieties of dishes from which one could fill a plate and return for more as often as desired. Afterward, of course, there was a regular dinner, but almost everybody seemed stuffed before they got to it.

Also those on-the-fly 10 cent breakfasts—orange juice, two doughnuts and coffee with cream—on almost every corner these days. No tipping either. And there are filling lunches in the garment center for 15 and 20 cents—soup, an entree, bread, butter, coffee, pudding or pie. And up in Harlem are a number of 35-cent chicken dinner places.

Thingumbobs: Don Budge, tennis star, is among the chronic blushers. . . . Roland Young never moves his lips while talking . . . Erno Rapee, orchestra leader, has 40 full dress suits . . . And Major Bowes has the largest private wardrobe in town.

Ballade of content:
Jay Flippen has too much hair,
Coarse and heavy and thick as a rope.
The top of my cranium's almost bare:
But do I envy Flippen's? Nope!

Caliphs Plan For Ladies' Night At Cathedral Friday

Large Number Of Acceptances Already Received—Program Is Arranged

With 325 acceptances already received, the Ladies' Night party of the Caliphs of Bagdad seems assured of success on Friday night, October 1, in the Cathedral. Albert B. Street, a member of the board of governors of the organization, said that the notices were sent out only a few days ago and that the early return of such a crowd of members certainly indicated a heavy attendance.

No degree work will be presented on Friday night, although a number of candidates will be presented. They will be obligated and their degrees conferred later.

The program includes something doing from 7:30 until midnight. From 7:30 to 8:30 there will be a motion picture shown. It will be a current motion picture, entertaining and amusing. This will be followed by six acts of vaudeville.

Following the vaudeville, the Caliphs and their ladies will adjourn to the dining room where a cold supper will be served. From then on until after midnight dancing will be enjoyed in the crystal ballroom.

Ladies' Night is an innovation in the Caliphs of Bagdad. It was decided upon when there seemed to be a popular demand upon the part of wives to know just what sort of entertainment their Caliph husbands were enjoying at these all men affairs. In order to prove that everything was just what the doctor ordered, and to extricate a lot of the Caliphs from the "dog house" the board of governors arranged the Ladies' Night for October 1, and the entertainment will be the same kind as is usually enjoyed at ceremonials.

Japs Confiscate Diplomats' Homes

Retaliate For Successes Of Chinese Diplomats In Winning Sympathy

(International News Service)

PEIPING, Sept. 30—In retaliation for Chinese diplomatic successes at Geneva, Japanese military authorities here today compelled Peiping police to confiscate the 300-year old $250,000 palace of Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese delegate to the League of Nations.

The Japanese also ordered confiscation of the more modest residences of Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese ambassador to Washington, and Dr. Alfred Sze, former foreign minister.

Dr. Koo's home has become a virtual national shrine. It was there that Sun Yat-Sen, founder of modern China, died.

PROBLEM UNIVERSAL?

Yet, if one reads the articles of economists in England, France, Germany, even some in Japan, he will see the problem is universal. Just what will occur when all the nations have spent their last dime, and food rots even though people are hungry and factories are closed even though men are threadbare? It matters not what form of government there is, the people will not stand idle.

Is President Roosevelt trying to prevent such a condition in the United States? That ought to be the major question. And, if the answer is in the affirmative, sound securities would be strengthened rather than weakened. For the stability of democracy depends upon a fair and equal break to all groups of the citizenry. Translated into present-moment terms, that is interpreted by many to mean a more general distribution of earnings to those who produce them by their labor—and a corresponding increase in purchasing power.

You Can't Go Wrong with a FALL-MADE LAWN!

In fall conditions are naturally ideal for making beautiful, weedless lawns. To insure success, however, take these three precautions:

1. Have a well-spaded, pulverized seedbed.
2. Use high-grade seed.
3. Supply the proper nourishment for the grass seedlings by applying Vigoro.

We will be glad to discuss your lawn problems with you and tell you more about

Central Church Is Having Service On Friday Night, 7:45

Service In Preparation To World Communion Of Presbyterians Sunday

Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, will preach in the Central Presbyterian church Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock, the occasion being the preparatory service leading up to the world communion which is to take place next Sunday at 11 a. m.

World Communion Day will be celebrated by joining with all Presbyterian churches in a united and holy communion in America, Europe, Asia and the farthest isles of the sea. This is the second year the General Assembly has requested this universal observance.

Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of Central church, announces that the session will meet at the close of the service Friday evening. The Senior Choir will sing and will follow the service with its weekly rehearsal.

County Surveyor "Ballot Writers" Name 233 Persons

Returns Look Like A Name Writing Contest Instead Of An Election

As the official count of the votes cast at the recent primary election nears completion, the farce of permitting the indiscriminate writing in of the names of candidates on the ballot becomes more apparent. The vote cast for county surveyor has been a headache from the beginning. The official count shows that 233 persons received votes for county surveyor. The office is simply an honorary one, as the county surveyor receives no salary, and there is only a hazy idea of what his duties are supposed to be, if anything.

In one precinct in the southern part of the city there were 38 names written in for the office of inspector on the election board. All over the county it has been the same. One would imagine from the tally sheets that the primary was a name writing contest instead of an election. Lawrence county commissioners and their attorney, William McEwee, Jr., now attending the state commissioners' convention at Williamsport, left with the determination of trying to get something done about it.

Ordinarily the official count of the ballots should have been made in four or five days, but it will hardly be completed before the end of this week.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 10

Girl Scouts of Troop 10 met in St. Paul's Lutheran church for their first fall meeting.

Martha Black told of her experiences at East Brook Camp. She also sang songs which she learned there. Ramonda Hare told of her stay at Camp Phillips, the Girl Scout camp. Both of the girl's accounts of their camp life proved both interesting and exciting.

The scout leader, Mrs. Kastner, showed the girls Christmas cards which they will sell during the months of October and December.

Some of the suggestions for the fall months were a theatre party, a taffy pulling party, amateur hours and a Hallowe'en party.

Following this, the girls played "poison." At the conclusion of the meeting the scout laws were repeated and taps were sung. The next meeting will be on Tuesday, October 5.

Catholic Women End Convention

National Council Of Catholic Women Praise Work Of Convention

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Five hundred delegates to the National Council of Catholic Women convention were on their way home today, elated with what leaders described as "the most constructive meeting" in the organization's history.

Closing feature of the convention was a banquet last night at which the Rt. Rev. Fulton J. Sheen of Catholic university was principal speaker.

Officers elected were: Miss Katherine R. Williams, Milwaukee, re-elected national president; Mrs. Earl R. Reynolds, Chicago, re-elected first vice president; Miss Pauline Casey, Scranton, Pa., second vice president; Mrs. Thomas Dignan, Glasgow, Mont., third vice president; Mrs. Thomas P. Ryan, Minneapolis, re-elected treasurer, and Mrs. J. W. McCollum, Gainesville, Fla., secretary.

Correct this sentence: "No matter how much they clamor for him," said the insider, "he won't accept a third term."

Duke Strongly Denies Story Of Returning

Has No Intention Of Returning To England For Perhaps Several Years

DUKE AND WALLY ARE QUITE HAPPY

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937)

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Breaking his silence on this point for the first time, the Duke of Windsor Wednesday gave a flat denial to renewed reports that his return to England is imminent.

"I am not going back to England this winter," the duke told Leslie Hore-Belisha when they met in Paris, it was learned exclusively by this correspondent.

Several Years

The duke told another friend in Paris yesterday: "It may be two or three years before we return."

Warmly criticising all the stories about them, and especially the rumor that they would be back in England in a month or two, the duke said that he and his American wife were "tremendously happy."

The friend strongly corroborated this. "They are obviously as much in love as on the day of their wedding," he said.

A rumor which was given wide credence in London said that the meeting with Hore-Belisha was at the Duke's request, so he could discuss the possibility of revisiting England in November and staying all winter.

Strongly Denied

The report was so widely accepted that it led to the authoritative denial here: "There is no warrant for this, or for any similar statements. The meeting between the duke and the war minister was unofficial, and entirely personal."

Windsor, it was learned, deprecated all the frequent stories purporting to set forth his and the duchess's desires and plans.

There has been no change in the attitude of the king's advisors however, that any visit of his brother to England or to America at this time would be detrimental to the interests of the crown.

In seeking a warm climate for the winter, nevertheless, the possibility persists that the duke and duchess will go to Hawaii.

Troop F Wins Praise Following Recent Inspection

The high spot of the late season for Troop F, local 103rd Cavalry unit, was reached Sunday when government officers surveyed the troop drill. The horsemanship and all around competence of the New Castle troop won high praise from the visiting commandant, Major Alberts, from the Philadelphia headquarters.

Troop F also had its own colonel, V. F. Jones, of Philadelphia, present for the first time.

Among other activities of the local cavalry have been inter-troop polo games which have brought forth no little talent. Chief handicap lies in the fact that the polo game calls for more strenuous activity than some of the horses on hand can produce. This prohibits competition with rival troops who are better mounted.

Of the 24 horses in the stable, some of the more aged are expected to be replaced in the near future.

The last drill found the troop with its full quota, 65 men, together with three enlisted officers.

Pheasant Flies Into Barber Shop

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 30.—A ruffed grouse or pheasant yesterday morning decided to visit in Mercer and winged its way in disregarding all stop signs in its hurry to get to the Anderson barber shop on North Diamond street.

The bird after arriving here was in no hurry to get away, evidently aware of the fact that the season does not open until November 1. It was taken back to its native haunts by County Game Protector George N. Norris.

Week Of Meetings Opening Sunday At Plaingrove Church

Rev. J. R. Laughner Of Emlenton To Be Guest Speaker At Plaingrove U. P.

A week of evangelistic meetings will take place in the Plaingrove U. P. church from Sunday, October 3 to the following Sunday, October 10.

The visiting minister will be Rev. J. R. Laughner, of near Emlenton, Pa. Rev. Laughner has had wide experience in this field of religion and is a thoughtful speaker. He has specialized in Bible study and is a master in revealing Bible truths. The pasttor, Rev. J. C. Fulton, will preach on Sunday morning, October 3, at 10 o'clock, and Rev. Laughner will begin his services in the evening at 8 o'clock. This will be a union service with the Plaingrove Presbyterian congregation, Rev. Leslie Bell, pastor.

The young people of the two congregations will hold a vesper service Sunday afternoon at 3:30. Clyde Adams, president of the United Presbyterian group, will preside. Harold Glenn is president of the Presbyterian group. They will specialize in Bible quotations and discuss the values of evangelistic meetings, what they may expect from such meetings and what contribution youth can make toward their success. The young people will be given a prominent place in each service. A song service, led by the pastor featuring gospel choruses and the combined choirs, will be the opening part of each evening, which will begin at 8 o'clock.

News Briefs From City Hall

Michael Fiello, 1209 Pollock avenue, informed police today that some time last night someone entered his garage and stole a 13-plate battery and a radiator.

Detectives hope to locate the persons who were alleged to have stolen two pieces of iron rail from the Castle Foundry.

Jack Wilson, 701 North Cedar street, told police alst night that someone stole his Packard, 1933, bicycle from that address.

Philomena Jaworsky, Oakland, caught a heel of one of her shoes in a hole in South Mill street near Market Way, and fell last night, police were advised.

Although Hallowe'en is a month away, youths already have started their proclivities which may result in a strict enforcement of the curfew ordinance.

Family Night At Nazarene Revival

Impressive Service Tonight At Local Church Of The Nazarene

There was a splendid crowd present last night at the musical request service at the Church of the Nazarene, located at Falls and Beaver streets. There will be a family night service observed at the church this evening. The largest immediate family present will receive a special prize. Rev. and Mrs. Oliver Morgan, of Indianapolis, are the evangelists.

Tomorrow night will be a special "father and mother service." Special recognition will be made to the fathers and mothers present. The services continue on over Sunday each night at 7:30 except Saturday.

Annual Round-up For 4-H Club Held

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 30.—Members of the New Wilmington 4-H club held their annual round-up and exhibit Saturday at the home of Walter Kendall in Wilmington township.

A perfect score of 100 per cent was the goal of each member with 50 per cent given for management practices followed during the summer; 20 per cent for daily gain in weight of the pig; 15 per cent for show ring merit; 5 per cent for feeding; 5 per cent on showmanship; 5 per cent for the record turned in on the summer's work.

Those who received first award were Walter Kendall, Duane Johnston and Nick Malaniak. Robert Wilson and Russell Wilson each received second place awards.

The first place awards were given for scores ranging from 90 to 100 per cent; second place awards for scores between 80 and 89 per cent; and third place awards were given for scores between 70 and 79 per cent

Church League Dinner Tonight

Members of the New Castle Church golf league will gather at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the First U. P. church at the corner of Albert and Clenmore Blvd. for the purpose of eating their annual dinner and electing new officers for next year.

W. I. Clark, president of the league for the 1937 season will be the presiding officers at the meeting to follow the serving of the dinner. About 40 or 50 men are expected to attend.

with IRON FIREMAN automatic coal heating

● The most important feature any heating plant can have is the ability to give plenty of heat. That is exactly what you get with Iron Fireman heating—plenty of heat—all the time. And you get it at the lowest fuel cost of any fuel or firing method offered.

An Iron Fireman fire is never suddenly blazing hot one minute and completely out the next. It is automatic and self-regulating, but is always giving off a certain amount of heat so that floors stay warm and the whole house stays comfortable.

An Iron Fireman is clean. Iron Fireman firing makes coal a smokeless fuel. Indoors and out an Iron Fireman is clean.

Install an Iron Fireman in your present furnace. You can do it at small expense and on easy payments, making your present heating plant modern, efficient, automatic. We will gladly quote prices and terms and estimate your fuel cost saving.

Emergency Landing Is Made By Earle

(International News Service)

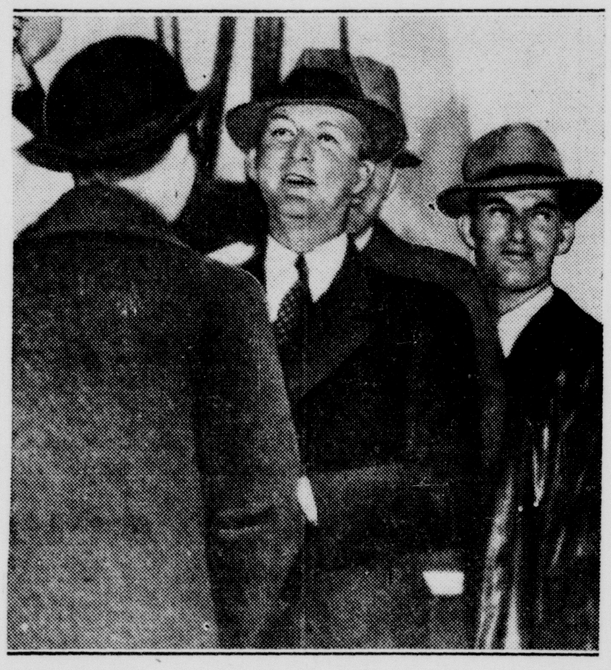

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—Pennsylvania's flying governor, George H. Earle, was none-the-worse today following an emergency landing made last night at the Harrisburg airport.

The governor was compelled to make a rush trip to Harrisburg from Philadelphia in a national guard open-cockpit ship after he missed the plane that was to have brought him to the capitol.

The landing was made by the light of flares thrown out of the plane. His pilot was J. Victor Dallin, commander of the national guard flight squadrons.

See Some Delay In Gas Rate Hearings

Public Hearings Are Started By Public Utilities Commission In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—The Public Utility Commission will probably encounter a delay of perhaps six months in its battle to hammer down gas rates, it was indicated here today as public hearings got underway against several companies serving the Pittsburgh district.

Representatives of the Equitable Gas company, the Duquesne Natural Gas company and the Ambridge Natural Gas company informed PUC Chairman Denis Driscoll and Commissioner Thomas Buchanan it will require from three to six months to prepare inventories and appraisals as requested by the commission. Driscoll and Buchanan did not indicate at once whether the commission will exercise its newly given power to force a rate reduction of its own pending completion of the hearings.

Equitable Gas obtains 70 to 75 per cent of its gas from the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Gas company which in turn owns Equitable, it was testified by F. F. Schauer, vice-president and general manager. Equitable's holding concern, the Philadelphia company, in turn owns 60 per cent of the Pittsburgh and West Virginia, he said.

When it was developed by the commission attorney, S. G. Miller, that Equitable sells gas to Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing company but has a working agreement whereby it makes repurchases from that firm, Chairman Driscoll ordered that copies of these agreements be submitted.

Duquesne Natural Gas was revealed also as supplying gas to Westinghouse through Equitable company lines.

Ambridge Gas buys its entire supply from the Manufacturers Light & Heat company, F. C. Schroeder, the president, testified. He said his company distributed gas but did not manufacture it. He testified it pays manufacturers 41½ cents a thousand cubic feet and charges consumers 60 cents on a sliding scale basis.

Schroeder said the company was eager to reduce its rates but that this was impossible unless the commission could prevail upon manufacturers to reduce its rates.

NEW GALILEE

Orville Shuster spent Sunday in Butler.

John Young of Ellwood City was a caller in town Saturday.

Wilbur Baumgardner spent Monday with friends in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hazen will make their future home in Detroit, Mich.

Week-Day Bible School Is Being Considered Here

The launching of a week-day Bible school for children of public school age is under consideration by the First Baptist church. All interested parents and their children are to meet at the church Friday night at 7 o'clock to see a series of stereopticon pictures and to decide upon a time and a plan for the proposed Bible school. Dr. Heaton will show the pictures and tell the stories about them. Then he will present the plan of the Bible school. Everything is free.

Will Clean Up Cemetery For Homecoming Day

Lot Owners At Savannah M. E. Cemetery To Gather Saturday For Cleanup

In connection with the Savannah church homecoming, which will be held on Sunday, October 10, the lot owners in the cemetery have been requested to meet at the cemetery to clean it up, in preparation for the homecoming, on Saturday of this week.

The women who have charge of the program on October 10 are Mrs. L. M. Reed and Mrs. W. E. Geiger. The reception committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Weinschenk, Mr. and Mrs. George Body, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Geiger, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Reed, and Mrs. Louis Heasley.

This annual event brings together former residents of the Savannah community, former members of the congregation, and those who have loved ones buried in the Savannah cemetery.

Preparations are being made this year to welcome one of the largest crowds which has attended the homecoming in recent years.

The details of the program for the day will be announced later.

PROTEST HIGH COST OF MEAT

Housewives In New York Area Protest Skyrocketing Of Meat Prices

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—William F. Morgan, commissioner of markets, was to confer today with officials of the federation of Kosher butchers, who threaten to close 5,000 Kosher butcher shops tomorrow in protest against what they regard as the excessive wholesale price of meat.

Meatless days, reminiscent of war time, loomed for housewives in the metropolitan district and Northern New Jersey as housewives went on a buyers' strike in increasing numbers in protest against skyrocketing prices. Hotels also planned to drop meats and poultry from their menus.

Figures released by the city department of public markets, weights and measures show a 34.7 per cent increase in retail beef prices of 1936, with lamb up 10.5 per cent, veal 8.6 per cent, and pork, 12.4 per cent.

The number of Jewish residents in New York City is approximately 2,000,000.

Y. M. C. A. Will Get Modern Gym Lights

Improvement Tops Changes Being Made For Season Opening Monday

Installation of a new-type lighting system will get under way in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A. within a very few days, General Secretary R. L. Meermans announced today.

The new lights, designed to reduce glare on players' eyes, will be the chief improvement of several being made to the "Y" physical department plant for the new season opening next week. A contract for their installation is expected to be let shortly.

Other improvements include the newly painted handball court, the cleaned swimming pool and the locker room improvements.

Activities Director Henry T. Macnicholas has mailed more than 500 letters inviting recipients to enjoy the gym facilities this season.

The new season formally opens Monday, October 4.

NEW CASTLE MAN TOOK "VENDOL" AND FEELS LIKE NEW PERSON

Had Gassy Stomach, Cramps, Pains, Acid Risings; Always Felt Bilious, Dizzy, With Spots Before Eyes And Very Nervous. Says Vendol Relieved Constipation Which Changed Everything.

Some of the best known men and women in this city and nearby vicinity are taking Vendol and coming forward with remarkable statements praising and endorsing this great mixture of roots, herbs and valuable Alkalines, now being introduced at New Castle Drug Co. by the Vendol Man. Mr. H. P. Bauder of 805 N. Mercer St., New Castle, who worked forty years for the Carnegie Steel Co., until he retired, gave the Vendol Man the following account of his experience. He says:

"I had attacks of indigestion, with a lot of gas on the stomach that caused cramps and pains with shortness of breath. I felt bilious, dizzy, with spots dancing before my eyes and I'd have splitting headaches. My nerves were shaky and kept me awake long after I went to bed. I felt tired and worn-out all the time and was constipated every day.

"I hadn't been able to get relief no matter what I did. Then I heard about Vendol and started taking it along with the little Vendol laxative tablets and this treatment gave such marvelous relief from my constipation, which resulted in a great improvement in my stomach condition, that I feel like a different person.

"I now eat my meals and never have that tight, bloated feeling in my stomach because Vendol has cleared away the gas that caused this suffering My strength and energy have improved since my food agrees with me, nerves calmed so that I sleep well and never feel dizzy any more. I'm glad to pass the good word about Vendol and hope many people will benefit by it."

What Vendol did for this hometown person it will also do for you, so don't delay getting some. Come to New Castle Drug Co., 35 East Washington St., and let the Vendol Man tell you all about this medicine. Vendol is also sold and highly recommended by the New Castle Drug at 24 N. Mill St., Schweitzer's Phcy., Ellwood City, and all other leading druggists everywhere.

Old Methodist Church To Have Birthday Sunday

King's Chapel M. E., Oldest In County, Plans 133rd Anniversary

FORMER MEMBERS ARE INVITED BACK

Young Rev. Minnigh Preaching In Morning; Epworth Pastor In Evening

King's Chapel Methodist Episcopal church on the New Castle-Pulaski road near the Harbor will observe its 133rd anniversary and annual Homecoming on Sunday, October 3.

The Chapel, oldest Methodist church in Lawrence county, was founded in 1804 by William Richards, a licensed Methodist exhorter, who settled in Neshannock township. The first meetings were held in the Richard's home, just north of the present church site. There followed in order of construction first a log cabin church and school then a frame church, and finally the modern brick place of worship which stands today.

Ira Sankey Converted There

It was in 1858 that Ira D. Sankey the famous hymnologist and evangelist, was converted to the Methodist faith while in attendance at a meeting in the Chapel.

Sunday's Homecoming services will be open to the general public. Rally day will be featured in the Sunday school at 10 a. m. At 11 o'clock the regular church worship service will be held, the sermon being delivered by the pastor, Rev. Wendell E. Minnigh.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock a service designed especially for the old members and friends of the church will be conducted. With musical interludes, reminiscent observations and a background of songs written by Ira D. Sankey, the program will be especially featured by the presentation to the church of Ira Sankey's portrait, a gift of the late Mrs. Charles Greer. The presentation will be made by Mrs. Arwood T. Eckles, of the Harbor.

The anniversary program will be concluded in the evening by participation in the holy communion. Rev. Harold A. McCurdy, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church of New Castle, will address the audience in this culminating service.

"Sleeping Beauty's" Death Reveals Long Romance

Young Lover Waited Five Years In Vain To Claim His Sweetheart

By PHILIP G. REED
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—In tragic contrast to that age-old fairy tale, a young and handsome lover waited five years in vain to claim the hand of Oak Park's "sleeping beauty."

The strange, sorry love story of Patricia Maguire was thus unfolded today as her body lay in a satin lined coffin in the living room of her small suburban home.

The account of Patricia Maguire's puzzling illness and of her death on Tuesday after lying in a coma for 67 months has been told in detail.

But not until he was found grief-stricken beside her bier did more than a handful of people know that James Burns, 35, had been devoutly in love with her through the long years and never gave up plans for the wedding that will never be.

Although not formally engaged Patricia had her hope chest ready and the marriage was tentatively set for sometime in June, 1932. In February she contracted the sleeping sickness which led to her death.

And among the bitter memories of her family and young Burns was that she never awakened, even long enough to know he was still there.

Fellowship Enjoys Party Last Evening

Young People's Fellowship Has Birthday Party In Trinity Church

A very appreciative audience enjoyed the birthday party of the Young People's Fellowship last evening in the Guild Room of Trinity church. The program was as follows:

Group of dancers from Billie Glenn's Dancing School—a. Tap Duo, Esther and Dorothy Ann Schneitzinger; b. Miss Personality, Charlotta Mae Christopher, accompanied by her mother; c, Military Toe Tap, Donna Jean Cox; d. Exhibition Waltz Clog, Leota and Loretta Fleeger, Harry Schnitzinger, accompanist.

Contralto solo — "Heaven Help This Heart of Mine," Dorothy Frey, Jean Chapman, accompanist.

Reading — "A Cheerful Visitor," Edna Hanna.

Piano solo—"The Waltzing Doll," by Poldini, Mariyn Kyte.

Readings — "Hay Fever," and "Cleaning Out the Furnace," Betty Jane Cope.

Soprano solo — "In My Cabin of Dreams," Joan McCollum.

Reading — "Sidewalk Observations," Claribel Cope.

Tap Dance by Evelyn Stratton, accompanied by Jean Jewell.

Bill Mackie of the Young Peoples' Fellowship was the announcer.

The officers of the Fellowship having general supervision of the whole affair: President, A. Verna Hietsch; vice president, William Mackie; secretary, A. Irene Hietsch; treasurer, Dorothy Peifly; member of the executive committee, Ben E. Johnson.

The general chairman was Isabel T. Johnson and the special committees: Program, Jean Webster, Harriet Hempill, Jane Rice; decorations, Dorothy Peifly, Jean Rice, Thelma Hempill; refreshments, Joan Lawton, Ben Johnson, Mary Norton.

Birthday bags are being given to members of the Fellowship to be turned over to the president, A. Verna Hietsch.

MOTORIST LIVES AFTER WILD PLUNGE, 250 FEET

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 30—Miraculously escaping death when his car plunged over an embankment near the Amberson bridge, Walter Keck, local insurance agent, was recovering at his home today.

Keck was driving on the Evans City-Petersville road and when near the Amberson bridge he fainted at the wheel of his car. The machine out of control left the highway and plunged over a 260-foot embankment.

Still, the great problem of youth would be theft instead of sex if the same swill had been written about it.

STATE TO STOCK COUNTY STREAMS

Fish Shipments Due In City Monday Morning; Need Volunteers

State fish department authorities sent word to Lawrence County Sportsmen's association leaders today that several Lawrence county streams will be stocked with new fish at the close of this week.

Eighty cans of brook trout will be emptied into both Big Run and Taylor Run. A large quantity of sunfish and catfish will be poured into several other streams.

Leaders of the sportsmen's organization asked for volunteers to help distribute the fish and announced these points of contact.

Brook trout for Big Run—Arriving at New Castle post office October 4 at 11 a. m.

Brook trout for Taylor Run—Arriving at the Central school, Plaingrove, October 4 at 11 a. m.

Sunfish and catfish for Cement Dam, Hettenbaugh Run, Neshannock creek near Volant and East Brook station—Arriving at New Castle Dry Goods store October 4 at 10 a. m.

State fish department attaches will direct the work.

Amusement Park Gutted By Fire

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30—An early morning fire gutted most of the buildings at Carlin's Amusement park today, necessitating the sounding of ten alarms. John J. Carlin said the $250,000 damage was not covered by insurance, park officials having allowed their insurance to lapse several years ago.

Motor vehicles registration in the United States reached an all-time high of 28,221,291 in 1936, exceeding the 1935 total by nearly 2,000,000 cars.

Prevention Of Fires Will Be Stressed Here

Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain Urges Citizens To Be Conscious Of Fire Danger

MOST ALL FIRES ARE PREVENTABLE

Carelessness in some form or other is responsible for almost every fire which occurs, Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain pointed out today in calling the attention of New Castle citizens to Fire Prevention Week, which will be observed as well as throughout the nation October 3-9.

"Every day it happens. Precious homes with all their treasures become flaming infernos. All too often, the occupants do not escape. Thousands of people, the majority of whom are women and children, are burned to death, and many more are seriously injured," the fire chief stated

Carelessness Blamed

"It is a heavy price to pay for carelessness," he asserted, "because carelessness lays back of ninety-nine out of every hundred fires. They are due in most part to careless construction of homes and buildings, careless handling of fire dangers, and careless fire protection."

By carelessness in construction, he pointed out, is the urge for beauty and convenience in dwellings, such as built-in bookcases, etc., in lieu of a substantial door at the head of the cellar stairs, or a fine breakfast nook, instead of a ceiling of cement on metal lath extending from foundation to foundation in the house, to prevent fires from spreading up through the house from the cellar, where a great many blazes originate.

People desire convenience in preference to safety, and prefer extra closet space to a fire-resistant roof or safe chimney. These things are important, because there are careless people who will continually be careless about fire.

Much can be done, however, in educating the public to prevent fires. People use gasoline in the house in cleaning, or pour kerosene on fires to hasten them. These foolish acts kill and maim hundreds annually and destroy property.

Urges Home Survey

Paint or oil-soaked rags or clothing used in painting are left in a corner or a closet and spontaneous combustion develops. The only safe place to put such articles is in a tightly covered metal container.

Other fire hazards which require watching are smoking habits; accumulation of paper in attics or cellars, and failure to operate electrical appliances and heating plants with common sense.

It is up to every citizen for his own protection to see that the tragedy of fire does not strike in his home. During Fire Prevention Week every citizen should make a survey of his own home and determine what fire hazards exist and take steps to preven' them, Chief McIlwain urges.

AROUND CITY HALL

Ohio highway police have asked New Castle and other police in Pennsylvania to be on the alert for the possible appearance of the slayer of Ohio State Highway Patrolman George Conn, 28, who was shot and killed near Freeport, Harrison county, Ohio, September 27. The description of the suspected slayer follows: Heighth, 5 feet 8 inches; weight 145 to 150; face, thin; wore suit and cap and is believed to have driven either a gray or brown Ford, Chevrolet or a Dodge coach or sedan with West Virginia or Ohio license plates. The police teletype said there may be some connection between the slaying and the escape of a trio of alleged bank robbers recently from the Cuyahoga county jail at Cleveland. The men who escaped and are at liberty are: (1) James Widmer, alias James Dunn alias James Dolan, 31, Heighth, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 150 pounds; hair, black; complexion, light; eyes, light blue. (2) Frank Bird, 30, Heighth 5 feet 8 1-4 inches; weight 145; hair, dark chestnut, (3) Chas. Bird, 26, Heighth, 5 feet 10 inches; weight, 145; build, medium; complexion, light; hair, medium chestnut; eyes, light blue and face, smooth shaven. The slain patrolman's uniform cap and badge, number 67, are yet missing, the teletype stated.

Police sergeants at police headquarters have telephone numbers and other information, vital to their work, beneath a glass on their desk. For instance, they can tell you the number of the game protector, dogcatcher, constables, various institutions and free delivery routes and names of some of the people residing along the routes. In connection with this the rural free delivery routes are: R. F. D. 1, Butler road; R. F. D. 2, Youngstown road; R. F. D. 3, Pulaski road; R. F. D. 4, Harlansburg road; R. F. D. 5, Coaltown; R. F. D. 6, Rose Point; R. F. D. 7, Ellwood City Road and Rigby post-office; R. F. D. 8, Mount Jackson road and R. F. D. 9, East Brook road. The number of county officials, State Motor police here and also at Butler are also on file at police headquarters.

There have been scores of automobile accidents within the city limits during the first nine months of the current year. Some of the accidents proved fatal. Persons were injured in some other but most of the accidents resulted in minor damages to automobiles.

Quite a few autoists received tickets for violation of the parking ordinance here during September. In fact, a count may show at least seven score having been presented with the white tag for which the motorist had to pay $1.00. Several arrests for speeding and tipsy driving were made.

People who wish to ascertain the ownership of automobiles for curiosity's sake do not have their request for such information granted at city police headquarters. There is an order at the station which prohibits the dissemination of such information unless an accident has occurred.

More than 10,000 nickles were deposited in 434 parking meters during the past week.

In an effort to decrease accidents, Pittsburgh police have been ordered to eliminate bicycles not equipped with lights after dark, from Pittsburgh streets. The situation in Pittsburgh is faced by police here although no orders to eliminate the unilluminated bicycles from the streets. There have been quite a few accidents between automobiles and bicycles here.

Bessemer High School Notes

The seventh grade pupils have elected officers as follows: President, Richard Scott; vice president, Harold Heard; secretary-treasurer, Zora Yardis. Miss Macklin is the room sponsor.

Last Friday's assembly was a special concert by the Federal Orchestra under the leadership of Ben Shulansky and Harry Hammond. The program was well received by the audience, which consisted of all the pupils from the grade school and high school, together with the entire faculty and several visitors from the community.

The high school football team defeated Hubbard high school on the local gridiron Saturday afternoon. The score, 28-0, was the same score by which Bessemer won the game at Hubbard last year. Coaches Capezzuti and Moore are well pleased with the showing of the team in the initial game. This coming Saturday will provide another thrilling contest on the Bessemer field, with Ursuline of Youngstown the opponents. The kickoff will take place at 3 o'clock. Season tickets at reduced rates will still be available.

The seventh grade was given the Otis test of mental ability Tuesday morning. The test is for classification purposes, and the results are appended to the student records.

Several grade teachers are attending classes in New Castle for extension credits. Slippery Rock College classes are held at the North Street building. Miss Fullerton, Miss Lusk and Miss Furbee are taking work there at present. Mr. Hostettler and Mr. Nord are contemplating similar work for graduate credit in Youngstown, where the University of Pittsburgh is giving extension classes.

Following is the assembly program for October 1: (Sponsor, Miss Crawford).

The reserve squad of football players will go to Union township on Monday, October 4, for a game with the Union Reserves at 4 p. m.

Lady From Ireland Interesting Speaker

With Miss May Decker, of Belfast, Ireland, as the guest evangelist, nightly services are being conducted in the Christian and Missionary Alliance church and the interest is increasing.

For the subject last night Miss Decker had "Where Art Thou?" and built from the question a stirring and thoughtful sermon.

Nancy Mack sang as a part of the service "He's So Wonderful To Me," and Mrs. William McKenzie sang "When You Know Jesus Too."

Another service is planned for this evening to follow prayer service at 7 o'clock.

Farm Credit administration officials estimate that the average farm woman's labor over a period of 30 years, figured as low as 15 cents per meal, would reach the staggering sum of $35,000.

"The dramatic story of the change in U. S. national policy from exploitation of natural resources to conservation" will be told in exhibits of the new interior department building, at Washington, D. C.

In early colonial days, butter and pig iron brought eight or nine cents per pound on the American retail market. Today butter is worth more than 40 cents a pound, while pig iron has sunk to about 1 cent.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Cry Of 'Gimme' Echoes In Land

Nation Demands Economy While All States Seek More Federal Funds

PROBLEM IS UNSOLVABLE

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Upon only two grounds has President Roosevelt run into serious adverse criticism of his administration in the course of his western tour:

1. The administration is overdoing the spending of federal money.

2. We (rigth here) simply must have more federal money.

Dispatches from all the correspondents with the presidential party have harped upon this twain of fault-finding — "Give US more money, but don't spend so much of it our national debt and deficits are becoming alarming. But as for our particular neck of the woods, our local resources are exhausted. For heaven's sake, let Uncle Sam be a little more liberal."

* * *

AN OLD STORY

It's the old, old story.

Federal money, of course, comes out of ALL American localities. If each, generally speaking, cannot take care of its own requirements, the sum total of them cannot take care of their joint requirements.

A PARTICULAR locality may, indeed, suffer some such especial misfortune as to make it, obviously, an all-around object of charity. However, that is a temporarily exceptional case. The entire country cannot relieve itself by clubbing its localities together, if they cannot, most of them, relieve themselves individually.

* * *

BUT—!

This is so self-evident that no half-way intelligent person can argue otherwise.

Yet senators and representatives, who, supposedly are superly intelligent, on an average, do argue thus regularly in congress. Each contends that his particular group of home folk literally will starve to death without federal assistance.

Here and there occasionally, this wail doubtless is legitimate—due to floods or drought or grasshoppers or something.

But it can't possibly be true everywhere.

Or, if it is true—if EVERY place has got to be in relief, where is relief to come from?

* * *

GIMME!

There are spots which have been pretty hard hit of late.

Some parts of the Dakotas have been badly chewed by Mormon crickets. The southwest has had dust storms. Dixie has more cotton than it knows what to do with.

But we have had Mayor LaGuardia of New York recently protesting that Manhattan can't survive without federal aid. Mayor Kelly of Chicago has protested to President Roosevelt that the Windy City can't support itself without Uncle Samuel's assistance. Governor Cochran of Nebraska sends up an S. O. S. for Omaha.

At the same time all these enormously rich centers are as enthusiastic as ever for the New Deal. They agree that it has saved them.

They stentorianly proclaim:

"We're prospering like anybody's business. Gimme!"

* * *

ECONOMIZE—BUT GIVE!

A politician from a particular area, screeching for federal help, knows as well as anyone, that federal help comes from EVERYwhere.

But he reckons that his own state will get its desired help from the other 47 states—that, somehow, HIS state will manage to dodge the federal tax burden. It's a 4-way attempt to flim-flam the other folk.

"For gosh sake, economize!"—that's the appeal to the administration.

But also—"For gosh sake, give US more money!"

Crops In State Make Progress

Corn Crop Not Damaged By Light Frosts, Fall Seeding Is Started

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30—Favored by good weather conditions, including an absence of frost, Pennsylvania crops of all kinds made excellent progress during the past week, the U. S. department of agriculture reported today in its weekly synopsis of weather and crop conditions in this state.

"That part of the corn crop caught by the frosts of the preceding week was well ripened and no serious damage was done," the report stated. It added:

"Fall seeding of winter wheat continued, and seeding of oats and rye are in progress in most section. Late potatoes are being dug in all sections, with reports generally more favorable than last week, although considerable blight is reported from northwestern sections.

Truck Crops Damaged.

Frosts of the preceding week killed a large portion of the late truck crops in western Pennsylvania, but in other sections the crop is generally good with late sweet corn being picked and late cabbage ripening rapidly. The weather was favorable for curing of tobacco in Lancaster county.

"Reports of fruits were mostly optimistic, and apple picking in progress with a plentiful crop of good quality in most sections, and pears also a good crop. In western sections, however, some orchards are bearing only about half the normal crop.

"Considering the state as a whole farm work is generally at a normal or slightly advanced stage for the season, and vegetation about normal, in spite of the continued lack of rain during the last few weeks."

Various Programs Have Been Announced For Alumni And Dad's Day

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Sept. 30.—Thousands of graduates and former students of the Pennsylvania State College from all parts of the east are expected to attend the annual alumni home-coming celebration which will take place Friday and Saturday, October 8 and 9

Members of the Alumni Council will assemble at the college Friday evening, October 8, for their meeting. Fraternities and social groups will welcome the old grads at informal affairs. The general program will begin Saturday, October 9. Included will be a golf tournament, a freshman football game, a reunion of two-year agricultural students, a varsity football game with Bucknell, fraternity banquets, a non-fraternity alumni dinner and a cider party for graduates.

This week-end fathers of undergraduates will be entertained by their children and the college. Featuring the week-end will be a football game on Saturday with Gettysburg College. In the evening a smoker will be held in the Armory after which the Penn State Players will present their first production of the season, "First Lady."

Annual Round-Up Of Girls Four-H Clubs Arranged

Event Will Take Place In Union High School Building Saturday

EIGHTEEN CLUBS WILL PARTICIPATE

Saturday will be a gala day for the girls enrolled in the 4-H Clubs of Lawrence county, when the annual county-wide Round-Up will take place in the Union High school from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Eighteen clubs from the different sections of the county are expected to participate.

It is an event which is looked forward to by the club members as old friendships are renewed at this time and new friends made. Camp and Club Week delegates meet again; exhibits of work done during the summer are inspected; and awards for special achievements are presented. Games are also played and a full day of pleasure awaits all who attend.

Games On Program

Exhibits of work must be in place by 10 o'clock Saturday morning, Miss Mary Vogle, Home Economics Worker for the county announces. The morning will be devoted to a program of games and judging. Lunch will be served at noon, picnic style. The afternoon program will be entirely in the hands of the club members.

Of special interest on the program will be a style review, staged by the second and third year clothing girls. A demonstration in better grooming will be presented by Rock Point and Big Beaver clubs. The Enon Valley girls will have charge of the Candle Light service.

Further details of the program will be announced later in the week, Miss Vogle states.

Judging each year at the Round-Up is done by the girls winning the elimination contests in the individual clubs. Those who have been selected to judge are as follows;

First Year Club Work

Darns—Joyce Forsberg, R. F. D. No. 1, Ellwood City; Helen Stoughton, Harlansburg; Pauline Williams, Pulaski; Alternate, Betty Reese, Harlansburg.

Aprons—Audean Hackett, New Wilmington; Jessie Coppolina, Willard; Olga Varudy, Little Beaver; Alternate, Mary Ruth Alford, Willard.

Slips—Ruth Hilberry, Pulaski; Dorothy Robinson, Gardner; Hazel White, Princeton; Alternate, Jean Thomson, Frizzleburg.

CRAZY HORN BLOWING IS PUT UNDER BAN

ROCHESTER, Pa., Sept. 30—This town will put on a "less noise" campaign. Today Chief of Police George F. Goehring said he has instructed police to make arrests of all persons guilty of needlessly blowing automobile horns and causing unseemingly noises.

He declared such actions would be in violation of a borough ordinance and the penalty would be the costs and a $10 fine or imprisonment for 30 days.

Frosh Life Is a Dog's Life

Pondering girls' inhumanity to girls is pretty Shirley Mills, freshman at Adelphi College, Garden City, L. I. She's pictured wearing the dog-collar and chain that is the penalty imposed on freshmen. The hair ribbon is another frosh adornment. (Central Press)

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek Declares China Has No Pact With Russia

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937)

NANKING, Sept. 30.—"Alas, no one is helping China!"

This was the exclamation of Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek when I asked her, in the course of an exclusive interview, for her authoritative views on a question of absorbing interest to the world—whether the Soviet union is coming to the aid of China.

In a lengthy analysis of every international aspect of the conflict, the pretty, American-educated wife of China's Generalissimo and dictator, estimated that Japanese war planes and shells have already killed 50,000 men, women and children non-combatants in this undeclared war.

She paused to remark that the sudden departure for Moscow of Soviet Ambassador Dimitri V. Bogomoloff doubless was motivated by a desire to make a general report to the Kremlin.

Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek made clear she believes that eventually Japan will strike at Russia, but for the present, she asserted, she does not know what the Soviet union intends to do. She stated positively that no Sino-Russian war pact exists.

"Japan," she said, "tried years ago after the Kolchak unpleasantness to stay in Siberia. She covets the rich fisheries and mineral and economic wealth in those regions and wants an uninterrupted route to the Bering Sea.

"Likewise, with modern aviation what it is, she dislikes Vladivostock being her backyard, so he will, when the times comes, strike at the northern part of the continent.

"The Soviet union dreams of connecting Moscow with Nome and beyond by rail, but the Soviet union will have to hurry if she wishes the honor of that great feat. For if Japan gets the Siberian littoral she will take to Arctic waters and cramp the style of railway men in Russia.

"However, what the Soviets do is their business. Doubtless they know what they are doing and expect to do and we do not, and I take this opportunity to say that assertions by Japan that a mutual assistance pact exists or is being negotiated between China and the Soviet union are calculated falsehoods.

"Japan hates to think that her imperialistic designs are being held up, as they are, by despised Chinese soldiers. That hurts her so she wishes to salve her feelings by asserting someone else is surely helping China.

Paralysis Wave Shows Decline

730 New Cases Are Reported In Nation For Week Of September 25

Although the country wide wave of infantile paralysis did not gain much headway locally, New Castle people will nevertheless be relieved at the public health service's recent announcement from Washington that the dread disease is on the wane.

The service reported that new cases of infantile paralysis throughout the country declined during the week ending September 25.

A total of 730 cases was reported in the nation for the week, compared with 879 in the previous week, the season's high.

The decline is said to have resulted from generally cooler weather.

Scientists estimate that two-thirds of the six million cases of blindness in the world today could have been prevented by proper medical treatment in infancy and youth.

Teacher Will Deny Charges

Ready To Take Witness Stand And Deny She Taught Students Evolution

(International News Service)

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Sept. 30.—Motherly Mrs. Laura Elms Morris was ready to take the stand today to reiterate her denial she taught her pupils in a little one-room schoolhouse that man evolved from monkeys or that she was unable to maintain discipline.

The groundwork for Mrs. Morris's appearance on the stand was laid by loyal pupils who denied the testimony of other pupils that Mrs. Morris taught evolution in her classes, punished her charges on occasion with a baseball bat and a stove poker and permitted the throwing of paper wads without restraint. It was on these charges that the Whitely township school board dismissed Mrs. Morris who now seeks reinstatement in the courts.

Did Strike Pupil

Twelve-year-old Allan Morris denied he ever heard Mrs. Morris tell the class that man came from monkeys. Mrs. Morris, he said, did not throw Charles Fuller to the floor with a well-placed kick; he was tripped by another boy. But on cross examination Allan admitted Mrs. Morris struck Charles on the mouth with a ruler.

Mamie Phillips, 12, said also she never heard Mrs. Morris expound the doctrine of evolution. She said overshoes were hurled in the class "once or twice when teacher wasn't looking."

Richard Pratt, 12, said Eugene Jones, one of the star witnesses against the teacher, was punished because he called a girl a derogatory name at school and ran into her and knocked her down.

FIRST MINISTER

Olympia Brown Willis of Malone, N. Y., was the first American woman to be ordained a minister. She was given the honor in 1863.

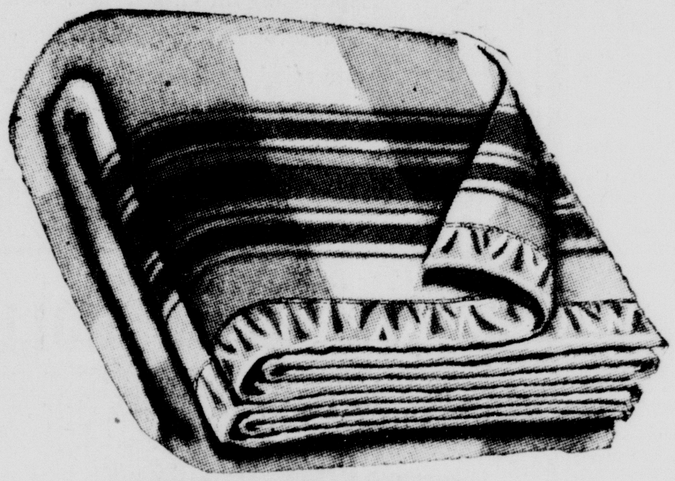

AMERICANISM: Laughing at primitive women who use love powders to get their man; buying soaps, perfumes and cosmetics because of their alleged sex-appeal.

Deliver Unemployment Blanks Here In November

Letter Carriers Will Aid Census

Expect Blanks To Be Filled And Returned To Authorities By November 20

UNEMPLOYED TO PROVIDE DATA

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 30—According to plans now being formulated by those in charge of the pending unemployment census, it will be the task of Postmaster Steen and the New Castle letter carriers to see that a registration blank is delivered to every home in the city on November 16 and 17.

On the same days, rural carriers operating out of New Castle will deliver such blanks to farm homes. That will be the role the New Castle postal organization will play in the first employment count ever made by the federal government. But in addition to distributing the blanks, it will be up to the New Castle postal workers to educate unemployed people on how to register.

Return Cards By November 20.

The census bureau wants the cards filled in and dropped in the mail boxes by November 20. They will be returned to the bureau and compiled into national totals.

According to tentative plans, an intensive educational program will be carried on before the cards are distributed. This will be for the purpose of persuading every unemployed individual it will be to his advantage to register in the census. The count is entirely voluntary and without full cooperation will be of no value.

As part of this preliminary educational program, posters will be displayed in the New Castle postoffice. Literature will likely be distributed throughout the city. And tentative plans call upon Postmaster Steen to set up an information bureau where New Castle people may get exact instructions on how to take part in the unemployment count.

John D. Biggers, in charge of this special census, selected the post office department as his chief aide because he believes postmasters and letter carriers will be able to effectively reach every one of the 31 odd million homes in the nation. It's another pretty important task for the service that carries on the year round in all kinds of weather and in the face of all kinds of obstacles.

Youngstown Jury Convicts Burke On Riot Charge

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 30.—Robert Burke, 24-year-old Steel Workers Organizing Committee organizer, was convicted on a riot charge by a jury of ten women and two men on Wednesday afternoon.

The jury deliberated for three hours before arriving at their verdict, which carries a maximum sentence of $500 fine and 30 days in jail.

Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, O, called in to hear trials growing out of strike violence granted the youth and his attorney's three days in which to file their request for a new trial.

Burke testified that he did not incite the riot under a downtown bridge June 9, nor did he order strike pickets to "get rid" of Ralph Ross, 25.

London shops are displaying three-spouted teapots, which make it possible to pour three cups of tea simultaneously.

ORVILLE POTTER

Coroner Orville Potter today is the president-elect of the New Castle Kiwanis club for 1938. He was elected to the leadership post in the club's annual election yesterday and later this year will be installed as the successor to Thomas L. Paden.

Chosen with Mr. Potter were: Vice presidents, Lee E. Allen and Daniel H. Treloar, Jr., treasurer, Robert L. Meermans and directors, C. J. Callahan, Norman E. Clark, William E. Langan, Lyle C. Hughes, Harry L. Gormley, John R. Hodge, Ralph Ramsey, Fred C. Wolford and Gilbert E. Long. Wolford has been a director since Kiwanis was founded here.

The new Kiwanis president, whose hobby is coin collecting, was chosen president of the New Castle Coin club only a few days ago.

At their meeting the members enjoyed special musical numbers provided by the Spiritual Jubilee Singers, appearing this week in the City Rescue Mission's 25th anniversary programs. Accompanying the singers was the Rev. Archie W. Gibson, mission superintendent.

'Alimony Club' Holds Session Back Of Bars

Thirteen Men Reposing In Allegheny County Workhouse Because Of No Money

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—Meet the "Alimony club", held together by the bond that ties!

Thirteen men held today in "alimony row" at the Allegheny workhouse are unable to supply bonds that would free them and enable them to obtain jobs to pay non-support or desertion court orders.

In most cases the bonds run to $300, though a few are for $200.

Consider the case of Joseph Loew, veteran of "alimony row". He owes $1600 for support of his wife and child. The court ordered him to pay $5 a week and when he fell behind and was unable to furnish $300 bond he was clapped into the workhouse.

Some Outlook.

He gets 65 cents a day, excluding Sundays and holidays, for every day he spends in the workhouse. This applies on his back payments. At this rate it will take Loew 2,462 days or over eight years, minus Sundays and holidays, to pay the balance. Loew's payments are suspended, however, while in jail. He has been a member of "alimony row" since June 29.

Loew's nearest rival for the oldest resident of "alimony row' i's Herman Yocin, a "member" since August 18. He is unable to furnish $300 bond and $1,390 for support of his wife and children.

Sam Pompellio doesn't owe anything, but is unable to supply $200 bond. A resident of Arnold, Pa. (before he joined the workhouse's club), he was ordered to pay $6 weekly for support of his wife.

The exclusive club at the workhouse lost one of its older members several weeks ago when Daniel Puskar, a member since June 30, gave $300 bond. He was back $234 on his payments.

C. I. O. Loses In Vote Of Employes

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—For the second time in 24 hours, a defeat was chalked up today for the CIO in the local districts when employes of the Pennsylvania Salt Company at Natrona voted 124 to 102 in a labor board election for the independent employes of Pennsylvania Salt, an independent organization, as their collective bargaining agency. The chemical division of the United Mine Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, was the defeated union. The plant was expected to be reopened as soon as the labor board certifies the winner

To Form Service Scout Troop In This City Soon

Meeting Of Scout Leaders And Officers Well Attended Wednesday

At a well attended meeting of Lawrence county scouters held on Wednesday evening in St. Paul's Lutheran church, plans were formulated to organize a service troop.

This troop will be composed of at least three scouts from each troop in the Lawrence County Council. These boys will be fully uniformed and specially trained boys. Their duties will be to be prepared at any time for any service in the community.

The troop, when formed, will be used for parades, school functions, conventions and the like. Or they might be called upon to aid in care of large fires, serious accidents, flood relief and the like. A well-trained scout is an asset to any community and for this reason this new troop should be very valuable to the citizens of Lawrence county.

Other items of business were transacted at the meeting which was in charge of the executive, Karl F. Green.

One cannot expect to grow good annual asters if they are planted in the same spot year after year. The ground become filled with root lice which ruin the plants, often to the mystification of the owner.

PORTERSVILLE MAN INVOLVED IN CRASH

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Sept. 30—In a head-on crash between a truck and a car, approximately $225 damage was caused yesterday afternoon on the Harrisville-Eau Claire road.

According to State Motor Policeman B. J. McCole, who investigated, a car driven by W. B. Staples of Butler, in attempting to pass a car near the crest of a hill crashed head on into a truck driven by Russell Kline, of Portersville, R. D. 2.

B'NAI B'RITH

B'Nai B'Rith members gathered in the Leslie Hotel, Wednesday evening, for their regular meeting. Tentative plans were made for a Fathers-Sons banquet. The group also formulated plans for the winter season.

Women's Self-Governing Council Will Resume At Westminster College

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Sept. 30.—Senate, women's self-governing council at Westminster, begins its fourth year on the campus this fall.

Superceding the campus committee, an organization serving only as a judiciary for rules set up by the administration, Senate came into being with the powers of a legislative and judicial body in 1933. Since that time it has abolished such rules as: No dating to chapel or church, no time after college functions, and no privileges on Sunday afternoon, such as dates or walks, except with members of families.

The membership of Senate is derived from a House council, elevated in each dormitory or house. In Browne Hall and Hillside this council numbers seven girls, while groups of thirty girls or more, from the small houses, combine to elect five members as their governing body.

This council meets regularly with Senate for one semester, but has no voting power. At the end of this time, however, the House becomes the Senate, ruling for the next two semesters, while the original members of Senate assume the position of an advisory board.

Penalties never exceed the house-limit class, which confines a girl to her dormitory except during the time she attends classes. No co-educating is allowed during this time. Sample punishments, provided by the constitution, are: One week's house-limits for going out of town without permission, one week for hitch-hiking, and one week for taking over the thirty-minutes "late time" allowed after college functions.

The Senate's present membership includes Mary Boyd, Wilkinsburg, president; Joyce Beatty, Bellevue, secretary; Lucille Purdy, Coraopolis; Louise Lane, Aliquippa; Janet Bailey, Ford City; Florence Sando, Wilkinsburg; Agnes Donaldson, Midway; Mary Donson, Washington; Virginia Cartwright, McKeesport; Jane Patterson, Gibsonia.

CCC CALL IS ISSUED TODAY

Applications Being Taken At Relief Board Office, South Mill Street

A call for all boys interested in making an application for enrollment in the Civilian Conservation Corps was issued today by J. W. Moorehead, director of selection.

Applications to fill Lawrence county's quota of 62 white and two colored juniors are being taken at the Lawrence County Emergency Relief Board's office, 321 South Mill street.

Any boy that has the following CCC eligibility requirements should apply a once.

Must be between the ages of 17 and 23, both inclusive.

Must be unmarried.

Must be physically capable of performing manual labor without injury to self.

Must be free from any disease which would be a menace to other camp members.

Must not be attending school—even though on vacation at time of enrollment.

Must be a citizen by birth or complete naturalization (the fact that first papers have been taken out is insufficient.)

Physical requirements: (a) Height—60-75 inches. (b) Weight—107 pounds or more.

Mental Fitness: No boy who has a mental history or is known to be other than normal mentally is eligible for CCC enrollment.

Reselection: An honorably discharged junior is ineligible for reselection for a period of six months (formerly one year) following the date of his discharge.

State To Survey Unemployment Of Worker "Over 40"

Legislative Program Planned To Adjust Comflict Of Youth And Middle Age

One of the fastest growing and most acute problems of our times, that of the middle-aged unemployed, is about to be taken up by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of Labor Ralph M. Bashore has announced that machinery is being set up to make an exhaustive study of unemployment conditions, with special regard to necessities of the middle-aged. Chief purpose is the establishment of a legislative program to allow the middle-aged to keep their jobs, perhaps by regulation of apprentices or other means.

Quoting Bashore, "Many persons who were formerly employed in industry, especially those in the neighborhood of forty-five years of age, are finding it difficult to find employment and establish themselves in our economic set-up. Causing this is a demand for youth able to respond to speed-demand made on employes by industry today. The problem of the unwanted middle-aged worker and the youth who seeks an opportunity is one that should cause us all to pause and think deeply."

Street Department Employes Are Busy

Hauling Gravel, Laying Sewer Pipe And Fixing Croton Avenue Sidewalk

Employes of the city department of streets were quite busy performing various functions. Employes are finishing placing of gravel at the top of Division street and also in Hazen street and others are placing gravel to Oak street. Gravel was placed on Oak, Forest and Pearl streets Tuesday.

Other employes were working on the steps for the sidewalk north of the P. R. R. cross-over in Croton avenue. Concrete will be poured this week, it was reported.

City employes also were laying a sanitary sewer in Crawford avenue where excavation by the WPA employes has been completed between Croton avenue and Cleveland avenue.

New Milk Price Is Established

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 30.—The state milk commission Wednesday authorized a six-cent reduction in the farmer-to-dealer price of milk per 100 pounds in the Pittsburgh milk marketing area.

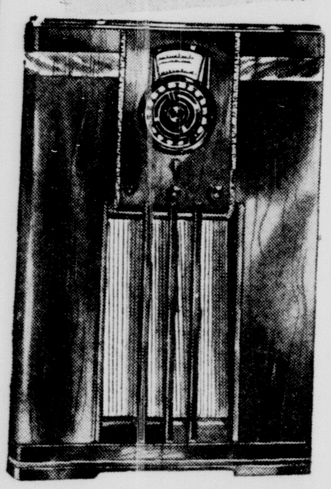

The action, the commission said, was prompted by pressure from dealers to boost the price of milk to 14 or 15 cents per quart to the consumer.

Farmers are now paid $2.25 per 100 pounds for their product, but under the new commission ruling the price they will receive is cut to $2.19, the consumer price of milk remaining the same.

Dealers argued that because of the upward trend in wage standards and demands for payment on union scales in their business they faced a much greater financial burden.

Despite the fact that next Saturday is the last day to register in order to be eligible to vote at the November election, very few registrations are being taken at the registration bureau, according to Clerk Thomas Edmunds. It is expected that there will be a rush on Saturday. Those who would avoid waiting should register before the last day.

Mike Coll, of 621 Forrest street, has filed an application for divorce from his wife, Lucille Coll, on the grounds of desertion. The couple were married at Berwind, W. Va., in May, 1917. Coll says in his petition that he does not know where his wife is, but that he believes she is in New York City.

Only about one month more remains during which county taxes may be paid at face, according to County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland. The time for paying back taxes, less penalties and interest, also expires November 1.

A certified copy of letters testamentary in the estate of Caroline McCaskey, who died at Canton, O., has been filed at the register and recorder's office. Letters were issued to Margaret S. Kerner.

An opinion has been filed by Judge W. Walter Braham in the matter of the final account of Joseph F. Travers, administrator in the estate of Joseph Rabbitt, who died on May 3, 1933, at the home of his niece, Margaret L. Travers. After his death a sister, Anna Genevieve Hynes and William Hynes, her husband, advanced money to pay doctor, hospital and other bills, including a funeral bill, for which re-imbursement from the estate was asked. The only other heir is Margaret V. Travers, who contended that Mrs. Hynes had received the proceeds of an insurance policy. The auditor allowed the claim of Mrs. Hynes, but rejected the contention of Mrs. Travers as to the insurance policy. Exceptions to the report of the auditor, Mamie Levinson, were then filed. The balance left in the account is $1,605.09, which the court distributes in a restatement of the account.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Dominick Sands, of this city, have been issued by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, to Mary Sands.

Among the questions which will be submitted to voters at the coming November election is a proposed constitutional amendment providing for a graduated income tax, which would levy a tax on citizens, according to their ability to pay. The proposition to be voted upon in November would not actually impose the tax, but if passed upon favorably by the voters, it would remove the present constitutional limitations, so that a subsequent legislature could pass a tax bill. It is contended that a graduated income tax would relieve some of the taxation on real estate, but there is no assurance that real estate would be thus relieved. Too often the imposition of new taxes is not accompanied by the discontinuance of old. As a general rule politicians usually find new ways of spending the money. There is a general feeling among property owners that they are paying more than their share of th upkeep of government. The graduated income tax might logically furnish a way out, but there will be many voters who will be naturally skeptical of jumping from the frying pan into the fire.

The average citizen of the United States walks 65,000 miles during his lifetime, scientists estimate.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.
Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Coating seed corn with coal tar to give the seed an offensive odor and thereby repel crows has been recommended for many years. Experience has now shown that this same plan will protect the corn from pheasants, which have been doing considerable damage in some sections of the country. The coal tar dries quickly and is not sticky.

New Backfield Friday Night

Copple And Palkovitch Are Lost To New Castle High Backfield

FRASER FIGHTS FOR END BERTHS

There will be a few strange faces in the New Castle high backfield when it takes the field Friday night at Reeves Stadium in Beaver Falls for the the annual Tiger-Red Hurricane" engagement. The contest starts at 8 o'clock.

In place of the injured Frankie Copple, Coach Bridenbaugh was using Stevie Lauro the former Mahoning high boy yesterday in the scrimmages and he looked rather well. He needs more experience at the fullbacking spot, but will develop. He is big and husky. Eddie Sowinski, former Franklin high boy is another lad with his eye on the fullbacking job, and he may get a chance to show his stuff against Beaver Falls.

Sovesky Only Veteran

The rest of the backfield will be composed of the veteran Eddie Sovesky, at one half and Gender at the blocking half spot. This is a rather inexperienced backfield for a big league game, but the boys are handling the situation in fine shape and there may be a few surprises in store for the Tigers.

Walter Palkovitch is out of the lineup on account of age. He has reached the age of 20 and the W. P. I. A. L. moguls say that that is too old for a high school football player.

The line is rather well established. "Bud" Fraser is trying hard to dislodge either Nocera or Carey from their end berths. Fraser is fast and a good tackler. The guards will be Steve Kulnis who looked good last week and "Sandwich" Dombroski. The center will be "Dutch" Updegraff. The tackles will be MacNeill and Socrates Roussos.

Meanwhile, Coach Frank Walton goes about getting the Beaver Falls team ready for the invasion of the Castle into the Beaver valley. The Tigers last year held New Castle to a 7 to 0 score and hope against hope to defeat the Bridenbaughmen this year. Walton has a few veterans left from last year on hand and a wealth of fine material.

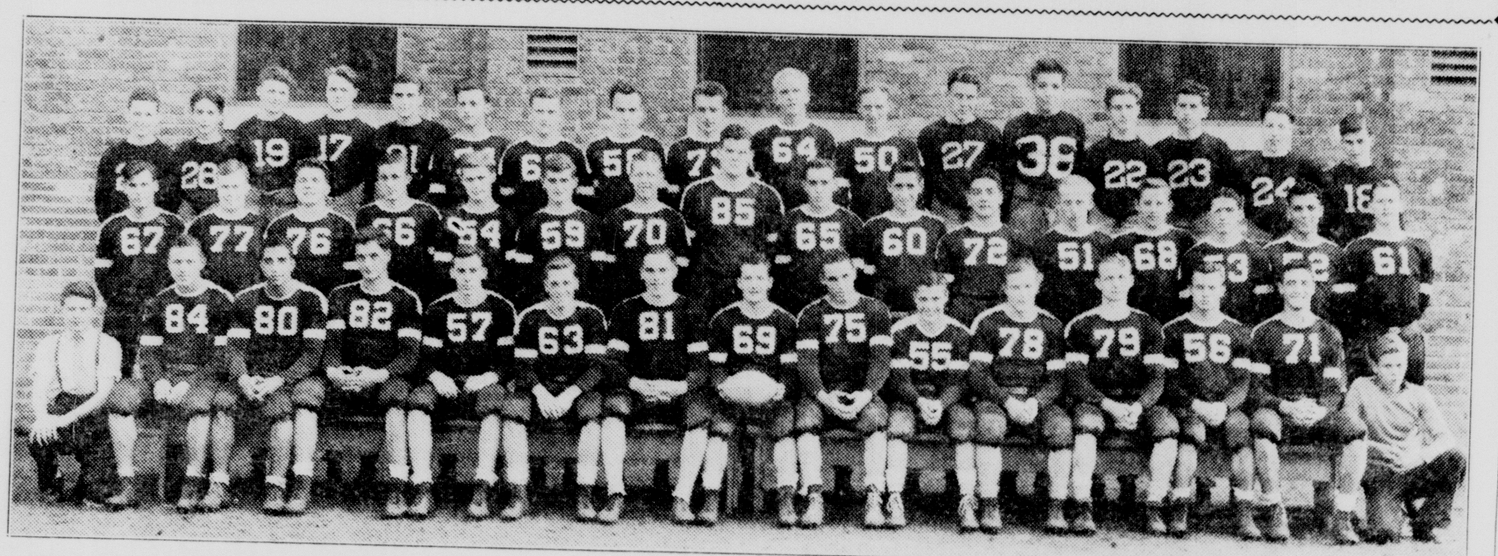

Columbus Takes First Game Of Little Series

(International News Service)

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 30.—Newark fans awoke with a jar today to the realization that the local International league ball club is going to have a mighty tough time beating the Columbus Red Birds, their American Association opponents in the little world series.

Since the Bears had won their last ten games in the regular season and in the play-offs, their 5 to 4 defeat by Columbus in the series opener yesterday came as a distinct shock to the local citizenry. The second game will be played tonight.

NEW CASTLE HIGH 1937 FOOTBALL TEAM

The New Castle High "Red Hurricane" football team is pictured above. The "Red Hurricane" has won two games and lost one so far this year. Friday night they will go to Reeves stadium at Beaver Falls to play the Beaver Falls high team, the team that held them 7 to 0 last year.

New Castle defeated Har-Brack high in the opener 12 to 0. In the second game of the year New Castle downed Butler high 19 to 0. The defeat was suffered last Friday night at the hands of Youngstown East, 7 to 0. The Castles hope to get back on a winning streak in the game in the valley tomorrow.

Since this picture was taken New Castle has lost three starts through injury and age limit—Mooney Deep from a guard job. Walt Palkovitch from a blocking half post and Frank Copple the fullback who has a dislocated cartilege in his knee.

The team is coached by Phil Bridenbaugh who is the head master, and by George "Gig" Thomas, William "Bill" Klee and Paul Cuba.

Draws Comparisons On Series Teams

Davis Walsh Still Thinks That Giants Will Upset Yankee Apple-Wagon

Giants Have Hitting Power, So Do Yanks For That Matter, Yanks Are "Cold"

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Still sticking narrow-mindedly with the impression that whoever wins the 1937 world series will do it much better with what they may be expected to have next week, rather than on what they had last month, (August) I'm setting out today to play the Yankees against the Giants on the "hot" and "cold" basis. In other words, an August average can be an October floperoo.

I've always said, in fact, that last month doesn't count next week, if you get what I'm driving at, and even if you don't let's just skip it and go on with the idea that a bad "hot" team can and often does beat a good "cold" team in a short series. The Giants are hotter than a stove hinge right now.

Of course, the thing doesn't always work out. The Cubs were hot in September two years ago. But they turned cold in the ensuing world series, not however because the idea was all wrong. The Cubs had a monopoly on that.

Giants Have Power

This time, the heat is strictly on at the Polo grounds. Joe Moore, for instance, has just finished hitting safely in 20 consecutive games; McCarthy has hit .380 for his last 17 games; Melton has been the winning pitcher in three of the last six games won by the club; Ripple has hit safely in his last 13 games. Moreover, the Giants themselves have just won six straight when the pinch was on.

In fact, the current Cubs have won nine of their last twelve and still have slipped one game further behind the pace. Most of the Yankees, on the other hand, seem to be cooling out—not too much, but appreciably. And for notable exceptions to this statement, I'll have to commend you to Gomez, Myril Hoag, Bill Dickey and, with not many reservations, the Di Magg.

Comparisons Drawn

However, the following tables, showing respective performances of early August as compared with late September, may be worth looking at:

Hitters: Yankees — Gehrig, off more than 30 points; Di Maggio, off more than 20 points, but still the guy who keeps the club rolling; Selkirk, off approximately 25 points; Henrich, off 8 points; Dickey, up 15 points; Rolfe, about even; Powell, off 17 points; Hoag, up approximately 35 points; Crosetti, off 15 points; Lazzeri, about even, but away down below .250, at that.

Giants—Bartell, about even; McCarthy, up 28 points; Whitehead, up 17 points; Moore, off 7 points; Ripple, up 5 points; Leslie, off 22 points; Danning, up 56 points; Ott, up 35 points; Mancuso, about even; Berger, about even; Leiber (unavailable until recent weeks), hitting .277, but with a lot of drive.

Pitchers: Yankees—Gomez, won eight of his last nine; Pearson, won two of his last five; Murphy, won one of his last three; Ruffing, won four, last four; Malone, won none, lost two; Hadley, won five of last seven; Andrews, won three of last four.

Giants—Schumacher, won four of last five; Melton, won seven of last ten; Gumbert, won six of last eight; Hubbell, won five of last seven; Coffman, won five of last six; Castleman, won one, lost one; Smith, won one, lost one.

Struthers High Postpones Game

Struthers high has postponed the scheduled grid game with Franklin high for Friday afternoon, it was announced today by Assistant Coach William "Bill" Wallace.

Instead the Franklin high team will play the Shenango high second team at Taggart field Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The Struthers-Franklin high game will be played at a later date, it is understood.

NEW GALILEE CLUB

The New Galilee Sports club will hold a skeet and rifle shoot Saturday, October 2, at the William Gibson farm in Enon Valley, it was announced today. Anyone driving to the Gibson farm can obtian directions by asking anyone in Enon Valley.

The Nut Cracker

After very careful consideration of the merits of both teams, the conductor of this column has picked New York to win the world's series.

A good reason why tennis is so popular in England: Miss Kay Stammers. Get a load of this racquet manipulator sometime. Oh, boy, born thirty years too soon.

Coach Frank Walton after watching Youngstown East toss all those cute little passes last week, remember? Woefully reported to your inquiring reporter that he didn't have a forward passing attack. Goody, goody.

This is the time of year when Luke McGlook sits in his classroom sound asleep and dreams about being picked an All-America. The fact that he is on the 10th team at Notre Dame doesn't bother Luke. That's right boy, be optimistic.

If Bridenbaugh wore a hair net it would be in shreds by this time. Bridy just about fell off the bench last week when this boy Congemi started to heave that hog's hide around the arena. Mr. Congemi would be a very welcome member of the New Castle team. In fact, better than that, quite welcome.

Terry Carson, local well known musician, is to be commended for the fine band that Youngstown East brought here. They not only looked nice in that blue and gold outfit, but boy, they could toot them tooters.

Giants Need But One More Victory

Defeat Phils In First Game Of Double Bill, Then Mess Up Second One

BUCKY WALTERS IS HITTING HERO

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—If you insist, I'll concede the Giants haven't yet clinched the pennant, but, needing only one more victory, they probably will get that in the doubleheader with the Phillies today. If not, they can hardly miss getting it in one of their three remaining games with the futile Dodgers.

Now that we've agreed on that, let's take a gander at the double header the Giants split with the Phils yesterday.

Melton Wins 20th

The overworked Cliff Melton turned in his 20th victory against the Phils in the opener which the Giants copped, 6 to 3. It was the first time in years that a rookie turned in so many wins in his first major league season. He showed some evidence of the strain he has been under recently but a good rest should have him ready for the Yanks.

The second game, which the Phils won, 6-5, was the interesting one, not because Bucky Walters virtually won it singlehanded by driving in five runs, four of them on a homer with the bases full but because of Wayne La Master's pitching.

Halted By Darkness

For seven innings, the stocky southpaw had the Giants eating out of his hand, as he held them to four hits. Then came the eighth and a blistering attack by the never-say-die Giants. Five hits, including a homer by Jimmy Ripple, with two aboard, and the Giants had five runs in and the tying run on second. In this emergency, Claude Passeau was called on to fan Moore for the final out.

The game was then called, because of darkness. If the Giants had had a chance to play the ninth inning they might have settled the pennant race right there.

Yanks Slaughter Macks

Leaving Giant and Yankee fans to mull over these developments, we move on to note that the Cubs kept themselves mathematically in the race by again shutting out the Reds, 3 to 0. Cub victories now have all the earmarks of locking the stable after the horse has been stolen.

The Yanks, after slaughtering the A's 15 to 4, were held to one hit and blanked 3 to 0 by Edgar Smith in a game halted by darkness at the end of the seventh.

In the other games of the day, the Red Sox took a pair from the Senators, 3-1 and 7-4; the Browns beat the Tigers, 7-6, on Clift's 29th homer, and the Indians split a pair with the White Sox. The Indians won the first in ten heats, 5-4, and dropped the night cap. Which was stopped by darkness after five frames, 1 to 0.

GAME IS CHANGED

Coach Austin Cowmeadow of Mahoning high called today to say that there has been a change in the Mahoning schedule for football this fall. On the day of November 4th Sharpsville Junior high will play at the Seventh Ward instead of the Bessemer High Reserves.

In central Turkestan, cross-eyed doctors are in great demand. They are believed by the superstitious to have peculiar healing powers.

Conn And Yarosz To Fight Tonight

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 30.—Promoter Elwood Rigby today estimated a gate of between $15,000 and $20,000, the largest in local history for an indoor battle, for tonight's encounter between Billy Conn and Teddy Yarosz at Duquesne Garden.

Both fighters displayed great confidence as they finished their workouts yesterday. Both expect to tip the scale at 161 at the weighing in.

A 10-round semi-final, an eight round battle and two six round scraps complete the card.

K. Pulaski To Have Meeting

The K. Pulaski athletes will have an important meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the K. Pulaski hall to discuss the fall and winter sport activities. All members should be present. A new sports committee will be elected.

The meeting will be presided over by "Lefty" Maslyk, who will make a report on the recent baseball season.

Shenango Opposes Zelienople Friday

East New Castle Gridders Confident Of Annexing Third Victory

Physically fit and confident, Shenango high school's football team leaves early Friday for Zelienople to oppose the Zelienople high team.

Shenango served notice of its strength by disposing of Evans City and then Freedom. The East New Castle team stands a good chance of romping off the gridiron with a victory over the neighboring eleven. Coach Nocera plans no change in the lineup.

Band May Make Trip On Friday

There is a strong possibility that the famous New Castle High school band of 60 or 70 pieces will make the trip to Beaver Falls for the grid game at Reeves Stadium Friday night.

Announcement of the possibility was made by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today. The New Castle High team will leave from the stadium at 5:45 o'clock, it was announced.

Bill Terry Is Still In Bed

(International News Service)

NEWARK, Sept. 30.—Bill Terry, manager of the New York Giants, still was down with the "flu" today and his physician said Terry would have to remain in bed until Sunday, and perhaps longer.

Mahoning And Washington To Battle Friday

Game Will Start At 3:30 O'Clock At Washington High Field

Two natural rivals of the gridiron will battle it out Friday afternoon in the first game of the city junior high series. The teams in question are George Washington and Mahoning junior high elevens. The game at Washington field will start at 3:30 o'clock.

Coaches Art Alexander and Bob Dinsmore have been drilling the North Hill boys hard for the past three weeks and expect to have them in shape for the tough battle that awaits them at the hands of the seventh warders. Coach Austin Cowmeadow of the Railroaders has a fine team and hopes to take the junior high crown this year.

Expect Fine Game.

The North Hill boys are inexperienced, but have shown a fins spirit and determination to work hard on the practice field. Dave Rucker is captain of the Wash high gridders.

Watching with interest will be the Ben Franklin high boys who must face both of these teams later on in the year.

The following will probably be the George Washington starting lineup for the game: Alexander at left end, Biddle or Campbell at left tackle, Hetrick at left guard, Ferrell at center, Rucker at right guard, Kelly at right tackle, Sisley at right end, Jerry at quarter, Fee at a half, McKee at a half and Burris at fullback.

The officials for the game will be "Bud" Hanlon, "Tip" Richards and Jimmy Sotus.

Ohio State Is 'Hot' Eleven

Hope To Upset Boilermakers Of Purdue This Week, Schmidt Not Optimistic

FACE TOUGHEST OF SCHEDULES

By LEO FISCHER
International News Service Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 30—"Thank Heavens" says Francis Albert Schmidt, Ohio State head coach, "no one is picking us to win any blank-blank championships this year. Now maybe we've got a chance!"

The man whose "razzle-dazzle" style has attracted more than a million customers in three years, paused to cast a reflective eye on a group of backs working with lateral pass plays. He went on:

Purdue Tough

"We've got a tough schedule and a lot of players who need experience. We were lucky to beat Texas Christian and from the reports I get about Purdue, we'll be blank-blank lucky Saturday to stay on the same field with them for more than one half."

Although the Buckeyes have one good break in not playing Minnesota, it's going to take a lot of miracles to pull them through a conference slate which includes Purdue, Northwestern, Chicago, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan without a headache or two.

There is this to remember, however—if the Buckeyes can win from their first two conference foes, Purdue and Northwestern, they're likely to win the rest. But it's a mighty big "if."

Backfield Hit

Schmitty's biggest job is to replace five great players in the backfield and about four in the line. Performers like Jack Bettridge, Frank Antenucci, Tippy Dye, Bill Booth, Joe Williams, Merle Wendt, Charley Hamrick and Inwood Smith aren't produced overnight and the game with Texas Christian revealed that some of these lads are going to be sorely missed.

The backfield has been especially hard hit.

In the line Coach Schmidt's troubles increase. The Buckeye forwards always have been bulky and slow, and this year will be about the same, without the brilliance of Wendt and Hamrick. There is a prospective all-American at left tackle, however, in Alex Schoenbaum, 215-pounder of Huntington, W. Va.

BETTING PRICES ON SERIES GAMES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Opening prices on the forthcoming world series between the New York Yankees and Giants—assuming that the Giants clinch the pennant—were announced today by Jack Doyle, dean of the baseball betting commissioners.

The odds are 1 to 2 against the Yankees winning the series and 8 to 5 against the Giants copping it. The prices are 3 to 5 against the Yankees winning the opening game and 6 to 5 against the Giants taking the opener.

Greyhound broke the 15 year old mile world's record for trotters at Lexington, Ky., yesterday. Greyhound stepping the distance in 1:56 flat, 3-4 of a second under the former time which was made by Peter Manning in 1922. The race against time, was the high light of the fifth day of the Grand circuit meeting. Another world record also fell yesterday on the same track. Billy Direct, owned by P. J. Downey, of Worchester, Mass, won the third heat of the $2,000 Tennessee stake in 1:58, setting a new mark for three-year-old pacers. The time also tied the world's record for pacers in a race made in 1914, by Directum I. Dale Hanover took two of three heats in the Lexington $2,000 stake and Eddie W won all heats in the 2:18 pace, purse $600. Calumet Forger captured two of three heats in the fifth event, acclaiming trot with a purse of $500. St. Patrick took two of the three heats and Ambassador won the other in the 2:10-16, claiming event for a purse of $500.

Old Furnace and Akron Cavalry will meet in a polo match on the former's field along the Zelienople-Ellwood City road, at 3 p. m. E. S. T. Sunday.

Fred Spuhn, former Washington oarsman, and for six years a member of the Yale coaching staff, has been named coach of Princeton rowing. He succeeds Gordon Sikes, who resigned. Spuhn is a native of Oregon and was No. 6 on the Husky eights which won at Poughkeepsie in 1923 and 1924.

Gross gate of $15,000 is expected to be paid by fans at Duquesne gardens, Pittsburgh, tonight, where Billy Conn and Teddy Yarosz, middleweights, clash in a return bout scheduled to go 15 rounds. Conn won the first fight which was close.

Phil Perkins, of Cleveland, former British amateur champ, won the annual Ohio open golf title at the Acacia club, Cleveland, with a total of 290, two under par. Bill Burke, of Cleveland, former National open champion and runner-up for the state crown the last two years, was second with a total of 292.

Eddie Simms, Cleveland heavy-weight dropped his fight with Jack Roper at San Francisco, Friday night, on a decision. It is the second decision in eight fights that Simms has lost since going to the Pacific coast.

Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, now the leading promoter at Detroit, has signed John Henry Lewis and Isidore Castanaga, Spanish heavyweight for a 10-round bout, at Detroit, October 15.

Don Budge beat Ben Neiden in a third round match and Charles Hare and C. M. Jones, the latter pair from England, beat Marcus Gordon and Bernie Coughlan in tennis third round matches, at Berkeley, Cal. on Wednesday. Sylvia Herrotin, France, beat Helen Drendell in a third round match and Dorothy Andrus won from Gussie Claire in a second round match. The play is for the Pacific coast championship.

Grovers To Face Clarion Teachers

Ten Veterans Will Be In Grove City Lineup For Opening Day Game

GROVE CITY, Sept. 30.—Veterans will get the call here Saturday when the Grovers open their 1937 football campaign with Clarion Teachers. This was assured today when Coach Jim Loveless nominated a starting eleven with only one newcomer, Jim Anderson at fullback.

A sophomore, Anderson had plenty of high school experience but was kept out of action last fall through illness. His presence now is especially important, since last year's fullback is on the sidelines with an injured knee.

At the ends, lettermen from last year get the assignment, with Lou Bibri of Springdale and Ray Brunton of Grove City, both juniors, start their third season as varsity terminals. Nick Maddalena, star tackle, is at his old post, but as a running mate for him, Coach Loveless has selected Wally Christley, 215-pound local senior, to start with Joe Deprima, Jamestown, N. Y., as alternate. John Seyler, Butler senior, will start at left guard, and at right guard will be Andy Petach, varsity center last season. George Ketler, Grove City, capable understudy for Petach last year, has earned the center position.

BOWLING

City Ten Pin League at McCoys will start the bowling season of 1937-38, Friday night, October 1 and will have a schedule which will last 30 weeks. The league is composed of Loyal Order of Moose, Fraternal Order of Eagles, West Pittsburg, Johnson Bronze, Penn-Ohio Coach Lines and West Pittsburg No. 2. The City Duckpin League will start Monday night, October 4, with teams as follows: National Radiators, Johnson Bronze, Loyal Order of Moose, Reibers, Jacks, Budweisers. The Duckpin League schedule will run 30 weeks.

Davis J. Walsh predicts Giants' southpaws, Melton and Hubbell, would handcuff sluggers of Yankees i. world series.

Pennant victory for Giants virtually assured today in doubleheader with Philadelphia Phillies.

Don Budge, Baron von Cramm, Mme. Sylvia Henrotin and Dorothy Andrus advanced in Pacific coast tennis championships at Berkeley, Calif.

Thorpe Is Held Greatest Gridder

Backfield Star Under Warner At Carlisle Won Many Games Singlehanded

By WALTER JOHNS
Central Press Sports Writer

No history of football is complete without mention of the man generally considered as the greatest football player and athlete of all time—Jim Thorpe, the Sac and Fox Indian who played for Carlisle in the years 1908-'12.

Pop Warner, now coach at Temple, was Thorpe's coach at Carlisle. Jim was the ideal football player, a big bruising backfield man and a great defensive player. Many times he won games single-handed.

Besides his college football prowess, Jim played professional baseball and football and was the outstanding figure in the 1912 Stockholm Olympics when he won both the decathlon and pentathlon.

Following Thorpe as the No. 1 football star of the early 1900's was Harvard's great, Charlie Brickley, who made the All-American team in 1913 and 1914.

Very few rule changes were made in the football code in these years. The score of a forfeited game set at 1 to 0 in 1908 and a field goal made equal to three points in 1909 were the chief changes in the rules.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Secret practice was in order for the remainder of the week as Chick Meehan's Manhat. n eleven today polished plays to be used against Texas A. & M. here this Saturday.

New York, Sept. 30.—Seymour Rosenblatt, varsity guard suffering from an eye injury, was back in the NYU lineup today and probably will be used by Coach Mal Stevens against Carnegie Tech this Saturday at Pittsburgh.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 30.—Coach Fritz Crisler's Tiger eleven today concluded a fortnight of pre-college training. The squad, which faces Virginia here this week-end, went through two hard workouts in a driving rain.

New York, Sept. 30.—The naming of the first Columbia team was deferred by Coach Lou Little today as the Lions went through their paces in preparation for the season's opener against Williams here this Saturday.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 30.—The Pitt, Carnegie Tech and Duquesne teams were due for stiff workouts today in preparation for this week-end's games. Carnegie Tech, with Coach Bill Kern making his debut as Skibo mentor, will clash with New York university here, Pitt will journey to Morgantown to meet the West Virginia U. Mountaineers, and Duquesne will meet West Virginia Wesleyan here Friday in a night session.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Don Heap, Bernie Jefferson and Jack Ryan were throwing passes today to round out an aerial attack which Northwestern plans to spring on Iowa State Saturday.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 30.—Pete Kovachic, Illinois sophomore center candidate, was out today with injuries suffered in the Ohio university game.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 30.—John Doyle, Erie, Pa., sophomore, was given a trial at left guard on the Wisconsin varsity today.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 30.—Capt. Kenderdine of Indiana was suffering with a twisted ankle today but planned to take no time out from practice.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30.—Coach Harry Kipke of Michigan planned to use Fred Trosko and Fred Janke as reserve backfield men in the Michigan State game Saturday.

Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—The Ohio State varsity was warned today to expect much stiffer opposition from Purdue Saturday than it received from Texas Christian in last week's opener.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 30.—The Gopher football squad today pondered over the report on the Nebraska team turned in by Sig Harris, veteran scout. Harris said Nebraska, which plays Minnesota at Lincoln Saturday, is a powerful outfit with the biggest line it ever has sent against the Gophers.

Notre Dame, In., Sept. 30.—Louis Zontini, sophomore halfback from Whitesville, W. Va., today was holding a position in the Notre Dame shock troops. He was promoted from the reserves because of his showing in the varsity-freshman game.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 30.—Bill Vergane, giant end, was drilled today in taking long passes from Cecil Isbell as Purdue worked hard for the Ohio State game Saturday.

Columbus defeated Newark, 5 to 4, in "little world series" opener at Newark.

Greyhound set new mile world record for trotters at Lexington, Ky.

Boy Scout Field Meet October 9

Big Competition To Take Place At Ewing Park Scout Leaders Announce

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—One week from Saturday, on October 9, every Boy Scout in Ellwood City under 18 years of age will be competing with a brother scout in one or more contests to show his skill in and knowledge of scouting. Knots will be tied as scouts know how to tie them, fires will be built the hard way—without matches; messages will be sent without wires or runners, races will be run in unheard of ways—in fact the events of the afternoon will be of interest to every one every age from 6 to 60.

For the boys this is just a contest—a game that they like to play—but for the scout leaders and the members of the council it is an opportunity to get acquainted. First, of course, the scouters wish to get acquainted with the parents—both of them—for they want the mothers to know who makes up the troop that sonny belongs to and just as important they want Dad to know what his son is learning at scout meetings and to become interested in his son's interest. How many parents know what to look for when Junior says "look at my bow-line". It's not a shooting instrument—neither is a clove hitch a spice or a Sheep Shank a roast of meat.

The scoutmasters urge every scout father and mother to be at Ewing park at 2 p. m. on October 9 to get acquainted with the scout, the scouters and with scouting.

Name Committees For Elks Dance

Joseph Wilkofsky Named Chairman Of Elks Annual Hallowe'en Dance

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—Committees have been named and initial plans made for the Elks annual Hallowe'en dance to be held in the ball room on Friday evening, October 29, with the affair to be strictly invitational this year.

The success of the affair is assured with Joseph Wilkofsky named as general chairman. Other committees named are: Gray Gordon and Kenneth Parker, invitations; Al Hoover, decorations; Orville Cox, publicity and Arthur Haven and Wendall Allen, tickets.

An outstanding success is the goal of the committees and by the initial plans it promises to surpass any of the other most enjoyable dances held by the Elks.

Band Practice Tonight At Frisco

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—Any former high school band player is invited to join the Franklin township Voluntary Fire department's band. Practice will be held tonight at the Firemen's hall at Frisco at 7:30 p. m. "Curly" Stover of Zelienople is band leader.

This evening a boys and girls junior band will be organized for players ranging from 12 to 20 years of age. As they progress in this band, they will be promoted to the senior division. Anyone desiring to join either band will please contact Joseph Stansfield or come to practice tonight at the Firemen's hall.

KNOX CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—On Friday evening, members of the Adult Bible classes of the Knox Presbyterian church will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Moyer, of the Ellwood-Zelienople road. A wiener roast will be a feature of the evening.

Allegheny To Play Buffalo

Coach Lawrence Has Fine Starting Eleven, But Reserves Are Weak

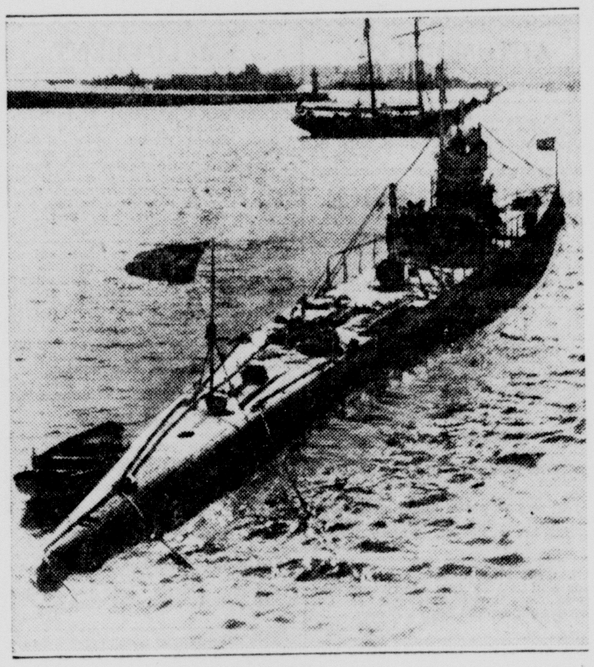

MEADVILLE, Pa., Sept. 30.—Anxious to disprove the sports adage that a team is only as good as its substitutes, the Fighting 'Gators of Allegheny college today were ready for the opening of their 1937 football campaign against a highly respected University of Buffalo varsity here Saturday afternoon.

Coach Karl (Lawry) Lawrence, hard-working Allegheny mentor, has tempered his 11 lettermen to play a lot of football without expecting too much relief from the sidelines. For truth of the matter is that Lawrence has little if any reserve material.

It follows that Lawrence isn't having much trouble picking a starting lineup. He will use Jack McFarland, Bellevue, and John Lavely of Meadville at ends. His tackles will be Cedric Spence, Mt. Pleasant; Bill Scarpitti, Erie, or George Rose, Mt. Lebanon. Harry White of Irwin and either Herb Ransford of Edgewood or Gene Ochs of Leeper will be in guard positions.

Bob Dugan, Erie, is assured of the center job unless he changes places with Spence at tackle. In the backfield at the opening whistle will be Tom Clark, Ligonier; Elmer (Moose) Swanson, Harwick; Horace (Red) Lavely, Meadville, and Bill Cook of Fredonia, N. Y.

Spanish Sub Stranded

Pictured in the harbor of Brest, France, is the Spanish Loyalist submarine C-2. The crew had split into two camps, Red and anti-Red, and a spectacular effort was made by Rebels to snatch the submarine from its Loyalist crew. The ship is shown as she awaited a new crew to take her back to Valencia.

Little Bits Of This And That About Ellwood

An Ellwood City land mark is being dismantled to make way for the advancement of progress. It is the former Jordan Johnston home, on the Ellwood-New Castle road, overlooking Ewing Park, and was built in 1875, sixty-one years ago, for Mr. Johnston and his bride. This plot of ground situated in an ideal location has been divided into building lots and already three very attractive looking homes are being constructed on this site.

Mr. Johnston, who for several years has resided in Fifth street like his former home, is a familiar figure to this districts residents. While past the three score and ten mark, as years are counted, is enjoying fairly good health and is often noted taking customary daily walks.

The house being dismantled was erected before the establishing of Ellwood City and is a large one and when built, old timers say, it was one of the show places in this district.

All the tall corn doesn't grow in Iowa according to Perry township farmers. Several years ago while attending a convention in Iowa, local Pennsylvania delegates were constantly reminded that Iowa is known for its tall corn and Pennsylvania for its tall men and now the local farmers believe they can challenge Iowa in both tall men and tall corn.

Silo filling is the order of the day in this district for the farmers. The din of the ensilage cutters resounds throughout the hills and valleys. There's something very satisfying and re-assuring about watching the men at work. All the neighbors help each other bringing their teams and wagons, making everyone's job lighter, and they have a jolly time doing it.

Not the least of satisfying thoughts to the workers is the sumptuous meals in the offing, that are so abundantly prepared and served by the ladies of the farms.

Our congratulations and best wishes to Thomas T. Patterson, of Ellwood City, who on Wednesday celebrated the tenth anniversary as owner of a local store that has continuously prospered and grown during the decade that he has been at the helm. During his ten years in this city, he has welded fast many valued friendships and is one of the town's most popular men. Always a church worker, he is affiliated with the United Presbyterian church, and is mentor of the Phalanx fraternity. Being an Ellwood City booster, he is a whole hearted worker in any cause for the advancement of the community. Being this writer's first "boss" many happy memories are cherished of days spent in his employment.

The annual fall painter, Jack Frost, seems to be a respector of persons. In some local places many flowers and vegetables have been killed by the frost, while in other near-by places no damage has been recorded.

Initial plans have been made for the Elks annual Hallowe'en dance to be held in their new ballroom on Friday, October 29. With Joseph Wilkofsky as general chairman, club members are assured by past experience, that it will be a supersuccess.

Papa and mama fish to the number of 4000 have taken up their residence in the Slippery Rock creek and it is the earnest hope of local anglers that they will settle down and raise a nice large family. Ellwood City Rod and Gun club and New Castle clubs stocked the creek from Wurtemburg to Kennedy's Mills on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Eagle Pass, 19 to 1 shot, captured $10,000 added Havre De Grace handicap by head over Burning Star.

Banquet Honors 20th Anniversary

Elaborate Dinner At Elks Club Celebrates 20th Anniversary Of Biordi Family

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—As a medium of celebrating the 20th anniversary of the Biordi family in the theatre business in this city, a banquet was held last evening at the Elks Club.

An elaborate nine course dinner was served the eighty guests amid very beautiful decorations. A huge anniversary cake centered the table and the twenty candles were successfully blown out by W. C. Kegel.

The guests included executives of the leading motion picture companies in Pittsburgh and Youngtown and among the special guests was Judge Braham, of New Castle.

Twenty years ago, two brothers, John and Frank Biordi, established the Majestic theatre, and since that time the theatre has been home-owned by the Biordi family. Since the death of John Biordi sometime ago, his two sons, Andy and H. E. Frank Biordi, have followed in their father's footsteps in the theatre business.

Russell Schill of the Chamber of Commerce, paid tribute and congratulated the family on their spirit of public co-operation and interest in the town's advancement.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

John Sumner of Beaver Falls road, and William Crowl of Fombell were New Castle callers on Tuesday.

Miss Hazel Crowl of Rodgers, O., is spending several months at the home of her brother, William Crowl, of Fombell.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ellsworth and daughter Jean, of North Lima, O., have concluded a visit at the home of relatives in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. David Henderson and sons, Harry and Henry, of Williamsport, have arrived in this city to spend a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson and family of Franklin township.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—On Sunday, September 26th, a son was born to Mrs. Ray K. Mattock at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. William G. Evans, of Wayne avenue. Mr. Mattocks died on Saturday, September 4, after a very brief illness. The child has been named Samuel Louis.

Aspen Hill, at Washington, D. C., is the third-ranking dog cemetery in the United States. It contains remains of 2,500 "prominent" canines once owned by capital celebrities.

Explosion Occurs At Brick Yard

Dynamite Explosion Sends Shower Of Metal Through Cardisco Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—Luciano Cardisco and his wife, of South Second street, fortunately escaped injury on Wednesday morning when an explosion occurred at the Ellwood Brick yard, sent a shower of metal through their home.

Greenbergs were blasting at the Ellwood Brick yard in dismantling the yard when the explosion occurred. Ellwood City police were called to the Cardisco home where it was found a piece of metal flew through the air, hit the ground, bounced through a window, showering Mr. Cardisco, who was asleep in bed, with broken glass, continued through into the kitchen striking a chair nearby where Mrs. Cardisco was ironing.

A small piece of the metal was brought to the police station by Officer Hays, who investigated the explosion.

Andy Fabian, who was shooting dynamite, and Mr. Greenberg were brought to the police station for an investigation.

Sportsman Council To Meet Here Friday

Sportsmens Club Stock Slippery Rock Creek With 4000 Black Bass

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—On Friday evening at eight o'clock members of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Council will hold their monthly meeting in the Shelby clubhouse.

One matter to be discussed will be the completion of plans for the program of the fourth annual field day to be held at the New Castle fair grounds on October 16.

This evening members of the Ellwood Rod and Gun club will hold a crow shoot. Members will please meet at the Packing House, on the Ellwood - Wampum road at six o'clock. On Saturday afternoon the same group will hold a trap shoot meeting at the same place, to which the public is invited.

A ruling of interest to local sportsmen has been handed down by representatives of the game commission, and it is that the federal duck stamp is not required for hunting woodcocks.

The Ellwood City Rod and Gun club and New Castle club have stocked the Slippery Rock creek from Kennedy's Mills to Wurtemburg with 4,000 small mouth black bass. The fish were secured from Corry hatchery at Corry, Pa.

John De Paul Called By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—John DePaul, aged 41 years, succumbed on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at his home, 834 Crescent avenue, following an illness of several weeks.

He is survived by his wife, Mary DePaul; his mother, Mrs. Emil DePaul; one brother, Eugene DePaul, and two sisters, Mrs. George Bevivino and Mrs. Demmer Parascenzo, all of this city.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home. Interment will be made in the Locust Grove cemetery.

HAZEL DELL W. C. T. U.

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—This evening at 6 o'clock, members of the Hazel Dell W. C. T. U. will hold their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ida Cunningham, of Orchard avenue in the form of a tureen dinner. An installation of officers will be a part of the meeting.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Women's Dinner Is Fine Success

Women's Missionary Society Of Wurtemburg Church Has Yearly Event

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—Every year one of the looked forward to events of the Wurtemburg U. P. church is the annual dinner held by members of the Women's Missionary society for the women of the congregation.

This year's event took place on Wednesday at the church and proved to be just as successful as those of the past years.

Mrs. Evans Dambach of Ellport was a special guest.

Seated at one long table, the women partook of a most delicious casserole dinner that left nothing to be desired in the way of culinary attainments. Pretty arrangements of autumnal flowers added to attractiveness of the setting.

An interesting program followed the dinner and included readings by Mrs. Charles Ketler, Miss Cora Cunningham, Mrs. Harry Fury, Mrs. Jacob Glasser and old familiar poems by Mrs. R. H. Kirk. Mrs. Victor Koach, in her inimitable style, favored the audience with a most amusing monologue.

Bible questions and Bible lotto added to the enjoyment of the social hour. Mrs. Laura Weller and Mrs. Charles Ketler had charge of the program arrangements.

Thoburn Class Elects Officers

Mrs. George Fike Entertains Methodist Class For September Meet

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—Members of the Isabelle Thoburn class of the Methodist Episcopal church were entertained in a hospitable manner on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Fike of the Ellwood-New Castle road, for their September meeting.

During the business period an election of officers to serve for one year were held and resulted: President, Mrs. Percy Lytle; vice president, Mrs. Clyde S. Hill; secretary, Mrs. Henry Fox; treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Doulds; teacher, Mrs. Minnie Reynolds; Mrs. G. Y. Fike, Mrs. George Roys and Mrs. Margaret Hummell, substitute teachers.

A social hour followed with the hostess who had Mrs. Minnie Reynolds as her aid, serving delicious refreshments.

On Tuesday evening, October 26, the group will be guests of Mrs. J. I. Porter, of Fifth street.

Florence Bauder Weds Jesse Smith

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30—An announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Florence Bauder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bauder, of Portersville to Jesse A. Smith of Butler.

The marriage ceremony was an event of Monday and took place at New Wilmington with Rev. Rose, a former Portersville pastor, as the officiant.

Mrs. Smith is a graduate nurse of the Butler Memorial hospital, and has been employed at the Jameson Memorial hospital, New Castle, for sometime. Mr. Smith is engaged in radio service and sales work at Butler.

A reception for relatives and friends was held at the bride's home on Friday evening that was a most delightful event.

ATTENDING ELDERSHIP

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—Rev. Arnold Berg, pastor, John Sockaci of the congregation, and Miss Mildred McQuiston of the Christian Endeavor society of the Hickory Knell Church of God, of Lilyville, are attending the western eldership of the Church of God, being held at Franklin. The first sessions started today.

A new pastor will be appointed for the local church, the local pastor leaving on account of poor health.

EVER-READY CLASS

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 30.—In honor of the members of the Ever-Ready class of the Imanuel Reformed church who have been promoted to another class, the group held a tureen dinner last evening at the home of their teacher, Mrs. Forrest Powell, of Line avenue.

After a delicious dinner the hours were passed pleasantly with games and chat as the diversions.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Well look who has applied for membership . . . George Sigler . . . City Police Department Motorcycle Rider . . . and also a Carl Nelson of Kerr and Erwin . . . welcome gentlemen . . . you belong to local No. 1.

Dear East Side Philosopher . . . it will be impossible to enter your name as the first name on the new spinsters club . . . authentic names are necessary . . . your suggestion however on changing the name from spinster to "Bachelor-Girl" is very interesting and will no doubt, with your permission, be used . . . yes I'm afraid we are just friends.

The trial at the court house on obscene literature has been an interesting one . . . it seems to me that the county is capable of tending to it's own condemning . . . why is it necessary to bring an outsider here?

Tomorrow is the first day of October . . . that means a new month . . . as far as society is concerned it will be a big month for social functions . . . parties for brides-to-be and the weddings . . . to all those who will share in such affairs . . . the best of luck be with you always.

Some talk has been going around for a great number of years about a bridge across the Neshannock at the end of Mercer street . . . this would work right in with the idea of rerouting traffic through the business district . . . what say we get together all of us and see what happened to this idea . . . it would also relieve some of the traffic on the dangerous Mill street bridge . . . that bridge has cost many a motorist a twenty or thirty . . . wood block is not a material suitable for bridge building . . . keep this idea of a bridge at the end of Mercer street in mind.

Quite a few Parking Meters are being destroyed and tampered with . . . it also reached our ear that a couple members on the force will not watch the meters regularly because they are not getting paid extra . . . what a spirit.

James D. Beadel married Helen L. Gilliland Sept. 4 . . . The best of everything from me to you.

Stock Market Trend Upward

Trading Is Moderately Active During Morning Session

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The stock market continued upward today, extending yesterday's afternoon rally which wiped out early losses running to four points.

Trading was only moderately active, but leaders chalked up gains of one to two points and more than four in special instances.

Copper shares, yesterday's bear targets, gold issues, steels, farm implements, motors and rails, led the way upward. Dome and U. S. Smelting each advanced two points. McIntyre almost as much and the low-priced Alaska Juneau about a point.

Kennecott Copper climbed two points at one time, while International Nickel, Anaconda and American Smelting each advanced a point or more.

U. S. Steel led industrial shares upward with a gain of better than a point. Bethlehem did as well, while Youngstown advanced about two. In motors, Chrysler spurted close to two points and General Motors about half as much.

Other features included American Can, which jumped more than 3; Allied Chemical, up more than 2; Air Reduction better than 3; Deere about 3½; Owens-Illinois Glass 2; Liggett & Myers "B" 2, and Radio a large fraction to 10.

In local commodity markets, grains moved ahead with wheat gaining better than a cent a bushel. Cotton lost more than 25 cents a bale early, but later recovered.

Second Magazine Case Is On Trial

Five Women And Seven Men To Pass On Literature Taken From Semler

In Lawrence county court this morning the case of W. A. Semler, charged with selling and possessing obscene literature, was called for trial before Judge W. Walter Braham. Mrs. Mary H. Ellis of Philadelphia, is prosecutrix in the case. This is the second case of the kind to be tried this week.

Mrs. Ellis in her testimony told about going to the Semler place of business and picking out the magazines which she desired. She then made an information against Semler. Asked on cross-examination if she had notified Semler not to sell magazines containing objectionable matter, she replied that she had not.

Testimony being offered in the case is of the same nature as that presented in the Harris case which preceded it. Mrs. Ellis reads extracts from the magazines, which she holds, are calculated to corrupt morals.

The jury in the case is composed of five women and seven men.

Buffalo Driver Under Arrest Here

Charged With Reckless Driving By State Motor Officer

Marion Woods, colored, Buffalo, is held in the county jail on charge of reckless driving of a motor vehicle awaiting a hearing before Squire Eakin, at Harlansburg, Friday according to the arresting officer, Private Hoke of the State Motor police. The arrest was made following an accident two miles north of Harlansburg on the Perry highway at 5:50 p. m. Wednesday.

Private Hoke said Woods attempted to drive around a car operated by John Niland of Kittanning at the same time as W. C. McKissick, of Slippery Rock R. D. 3 was driving past Niland's car in an opposite direction. Woods auto struck the car driven by McKissick then went into an eight foot deep ditch on the wrong side of Woods proper lane.

Amishmen Will Fight In Court

Will Not Accept Gifts Of Money For School From Government

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 30.—Stout-hearted Amishmen and Mennonites, the "plain people" of Lancaster county, were determined today that they wanted no gifts from the federal government, even if it was a modern $112,000 schoolhouse for their children.

And they have decided to carry their fight to the U. S. supreme court, if necessary, and, meanwhile, boycott the new P.W.A. building.

The black-frocked country men and women, who are forbidden by their religious precepts to contract debts, met last night and decided to appeal to the supreme court if the circuit court in October denies their suit to keep the new school building from replacing the "little red schoolhouse".

The new P. W. A. building is all but complete in nearby Smoketown, East Lampeter township. The "plain people" lost their first legal skirmishes with lower state and federal courts.

The school opens Monday, but it was decided at a mass meeting last night to ignore the "gaudy school buses" that will stop for their children, who have, in the past, attended 10 one-room schoolhouses.

Guilty Verdict In Magazine Case

Jury Debates Verdict All Night At Lawrence County Court House

Sleepy eyed and tired after an all night session in a jury room, the jury in the case of Thomas F. Harris, of Ellwood City, charged with selling and possessing obscene literature, returned a verdict in Lawrence county court this morning of guilty as indicted.

The case has been on trial before Judge W. Walter Braham during the past two days Mrs. Mary H. Ellis, the prosecutrix, spent the greater part of Wednesday reading extracts from magazines which she said were seized at the Harris news stand. These extracts had been underscored with red ink so that they could be readily found in the big stack of magazines which were carried into court.

Defense offered by Harris was to the effect that he had received consignments of the salacious magazines along with others. He had not read them, and did not realize that he was violating the law, since the magazines were the same as are usually found on news stands throughout the state.

Testimony closed Wednesday afternoon and after arguments by attorneys and a charge by Judge W. Walter Braham, the jury, composed of ten men and two women, retired to a jury room about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The verdict, reached about 5 o'clock, was sealed and was delivered to Judge Braham when court convened at 9 o'clock this morning.

Denver Man Gets Coveted Honor

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30.—George Wehrle, 56, of Denver, was recipient today of the American Gas association's most coveted honor, the Charles A. Munroe award.

Wehrle, superintendent of the gas department of the Public Service Co. of Colorado, received the $500 award for "the outstanding individual contribution to advancement of the gas industry." He directed transfer of Denver's fuel system from manufactured to natural gas.

Final commercial, technical and industrial sessions brought a close today to the gas association's 19th annual convention.

Morgenthau Not As Enthusiastic

Declines To Make Prediction On President's Balanced Budget Forecast

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau today was not as enthusiastic over the prospect of a balanced federal budget in 1939 as President Roosevelt was earlier in the week in his Bonneville dam speech.

He declined to predict the budget would be balanced by the end of the fiscal year, June 30, and refused to speculate on what he thought the government would do in 1939.

Mr. Roosevelt stated in his speech the budget would be balanced in 1939.

"A lot of work has to be done on the 1939 budget," Morgenthau stated.

When asked about his hopes for the current year he jocularly remarked:

"When there is time there is fortune."

Pressed to make a statement on the budget-balancing question, he added:

"I don't go in much for these hopes."

Asked if he intended to propose additional taxation at the next session of congress Morgenthau was non-committal. He did say there would be no more major federal borrowing programs until the regular quarterly financing on December 15.

NEW TRAFFIC EXCUSE

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—William Shirley, of Indianapolis had a new excuse when he was brought before City Court Judge Silas Lipman for failing to wait for the red light on a traffic signal. "I thought you went through red lights and waited for green ones," Shirley pleaded. Judge Lipman was a bit astounded, but not sufficiently so to refrain from saying "five dollars and costs." Later the judge relented a little and suspended the costs.
